Catholic Central High School

This, then, seems to indicate that the Basilians' efforts to train and guide their charges have met with a measure of success, for Catholic Central athletic teams have won title after title. Furthermore, the school's literary, dramatic, and intellectual accomplishments have been highly rewarded. A large part of Catholic Central's success as a school is due to the careful selection and appointment of the priests whose function it is to direct it. Beginning with Fr. Whelan, who instituted the school, and continuing with Fr. Embser, who carried on his admirable work, to Fr. Sheehy, the present principal, Catholic Central has always been blessed with a director whose training and ability has been more than equal to the task set before him.

Almost obscured by the aureole of fame that surrounds it as a result of its athletic achievements is the fact that Catholic Central always has been and forever will be a highly principled and hard working force in other fields of endeavor as well. The motto that the Basilian Fathers adopted as a guide when they first brought Catholic Central into existence, "Doce me Bonitatem, et Disciplinam, et Scientiam," or "Teach me goodness, and discipline, and knowledge," has been steadfastly adhered to, with the result that Catholic Central students have been obliged to meet a set of standards that has set them apart from the rest of the city in almost everything that they do.

Catholic Central

. . . Her Scholarship

Since men are most like men when they engage in intellectual activity, eminence has properly been given to scholarship at Catholic Central. The classroom, the logical theater of such activity, is a world in miniature; success there is earnest of success in its larger counterpart, and triumphs there are forerunners of richer victories.

. . . Her Spiritual Life

"What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world but suffer the loss of his own soul." . . . In our modern age of confusion and chaos primary objectives are often lowered to mere incidentals in the quest of that which is desired. Continually endeavoring to keep our boys aware of their goal in life, Catholic Central has unwaveringly clung to her motto, "First things first," and presented the aspects of spiritual life as foremost.

Campus and Social Life

Action on the court such as this makes basketball the colorful sport that it is.

After school hours will always find a group of students gathered around exchanging "tall ones".

The nucleus of every stage show is the silent cast of behind-the-scene workers.

Slush and snow present no obstacle for the students when lunch time rolls around. Even the elements can't prevent the most popular period of Central's daily schedule from taking place.

Wherever the Shamrock travels there is evidence.

An ever-expanding Library has served the students well in their quest for knowledge.

he locker room can perhaps paint a more vivid picture of victory or defeat than any artist's hand.

ys be a troop of loyal followers, such as was Toledo trip.

"To eat is human . . ." Students eagerly reach for the proteins and vitamins to obtain the energy necessary to defy the mental and physical obstacles during the day.

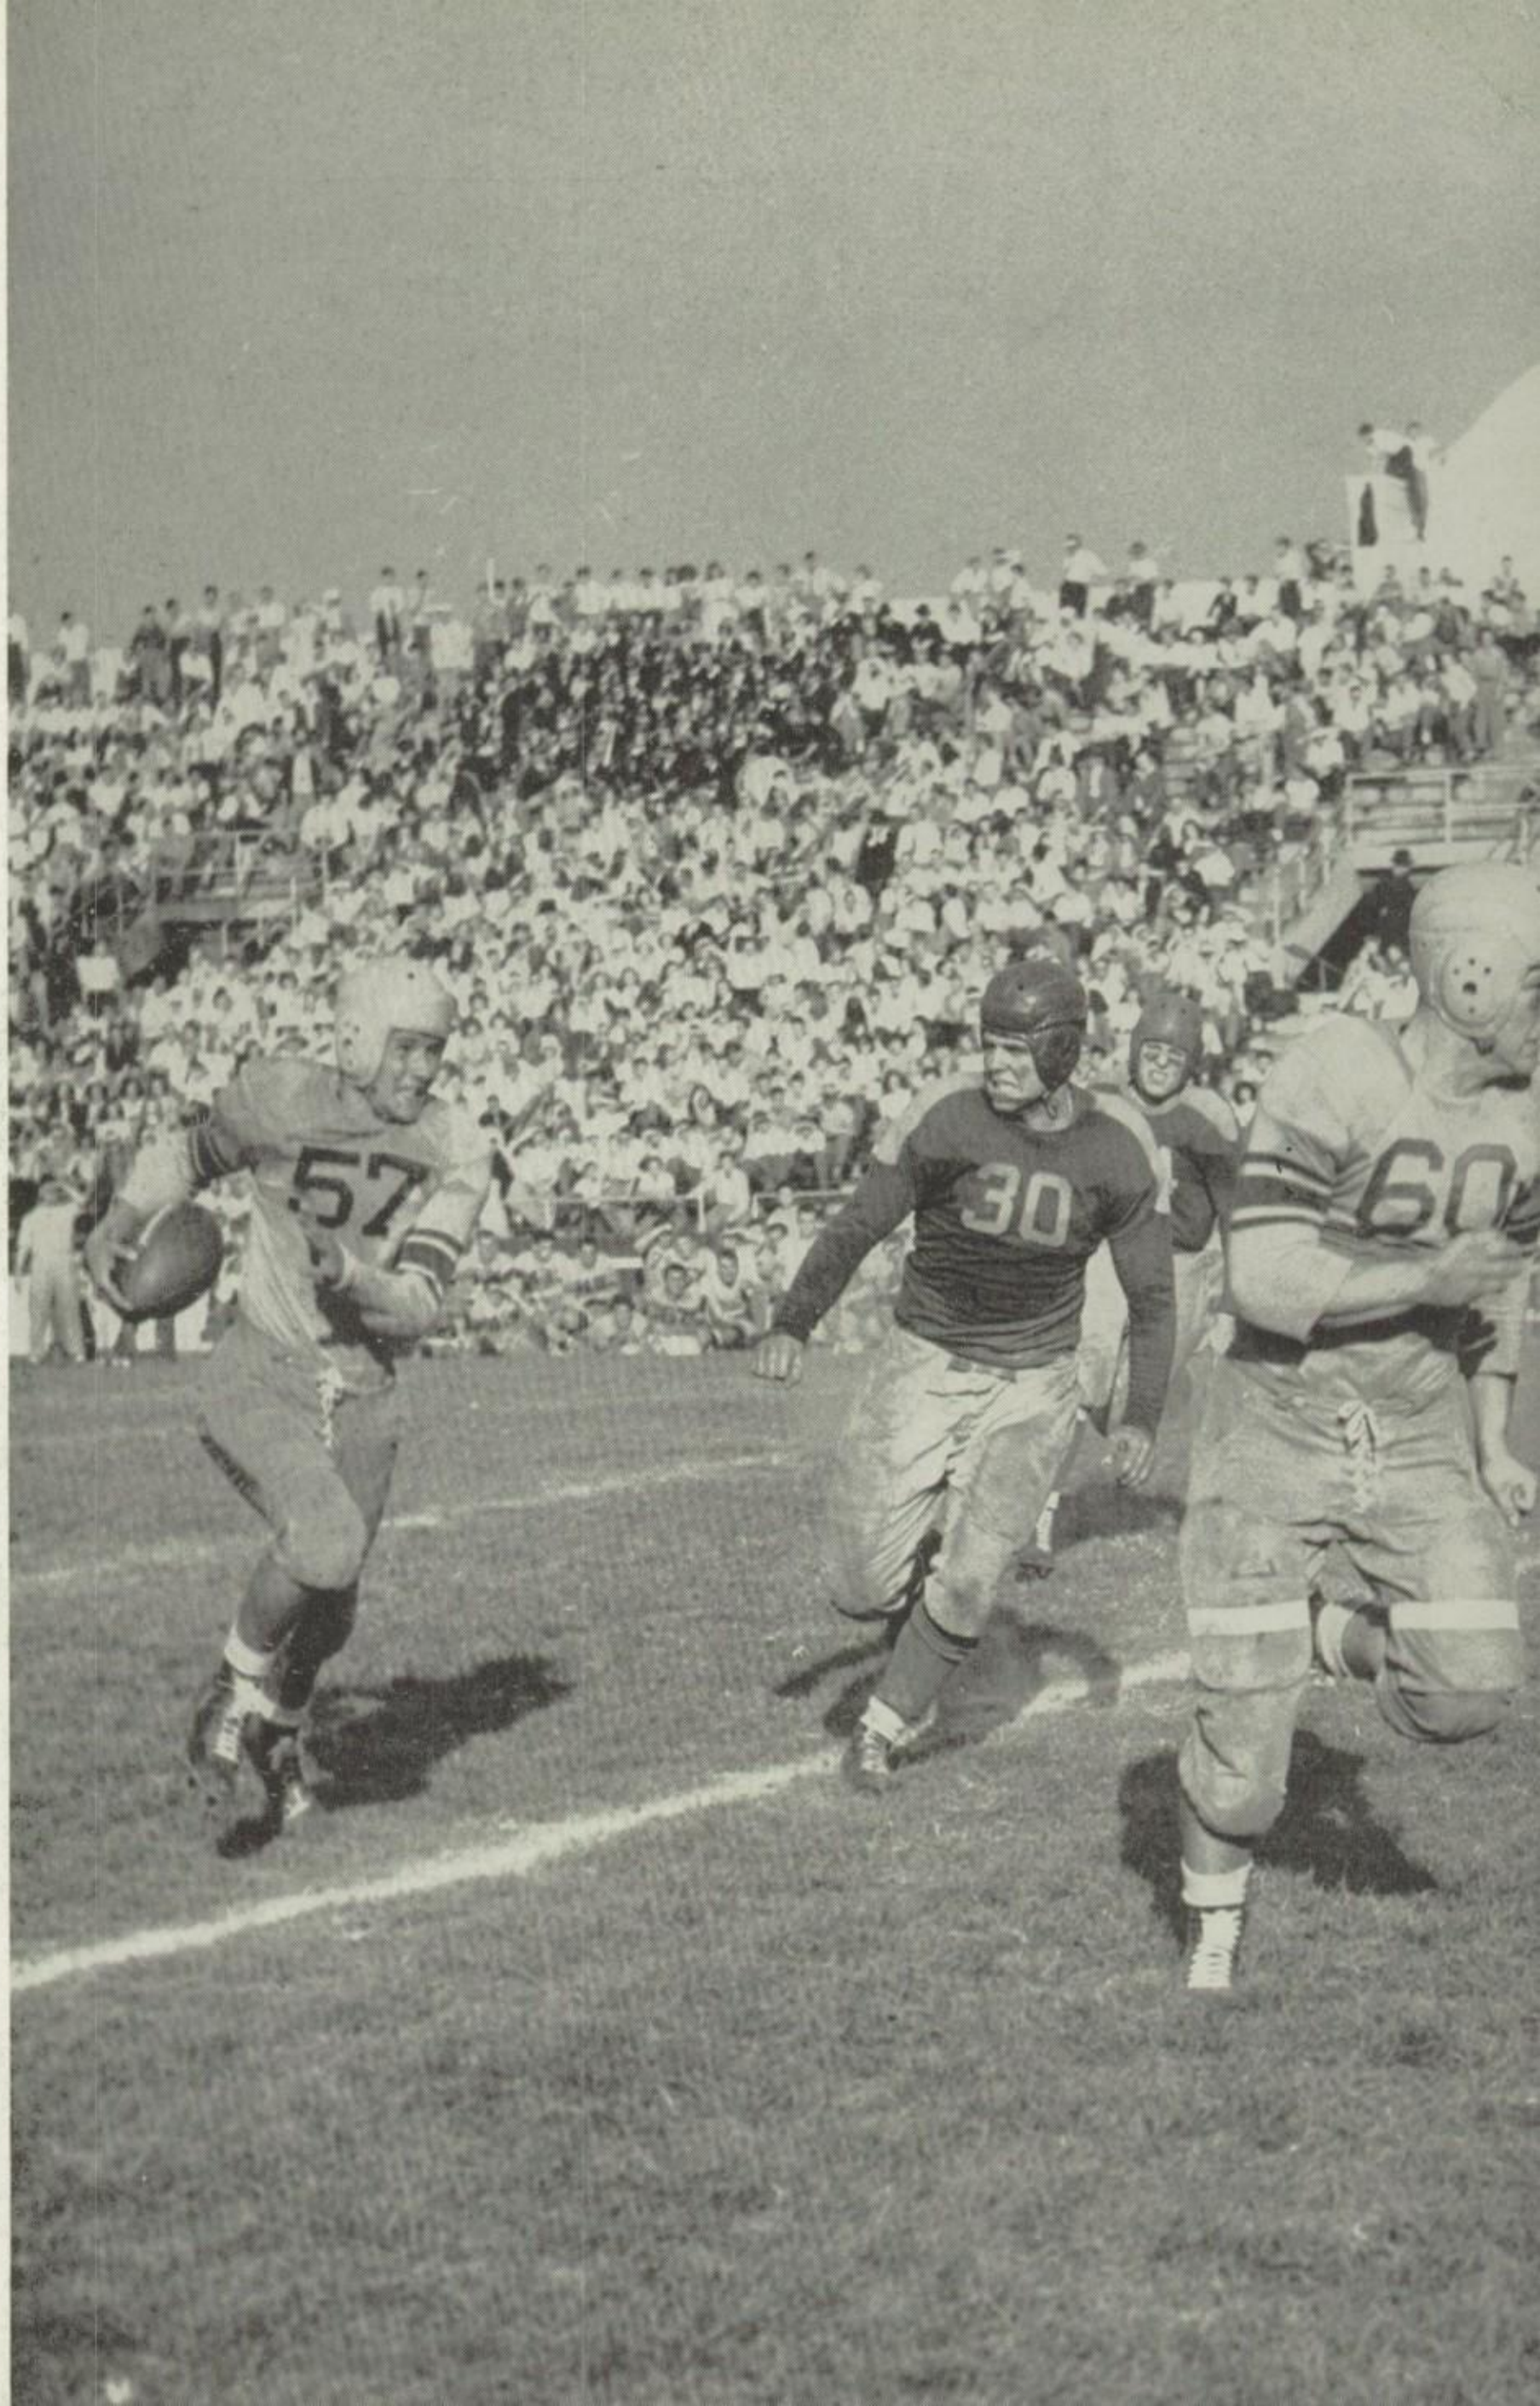

e rapturous Senior Prom has always been foremost on the list of school activities.

A few of the unsung heroes laboring to keep Central on top are the loyal members of the Dad's Club.

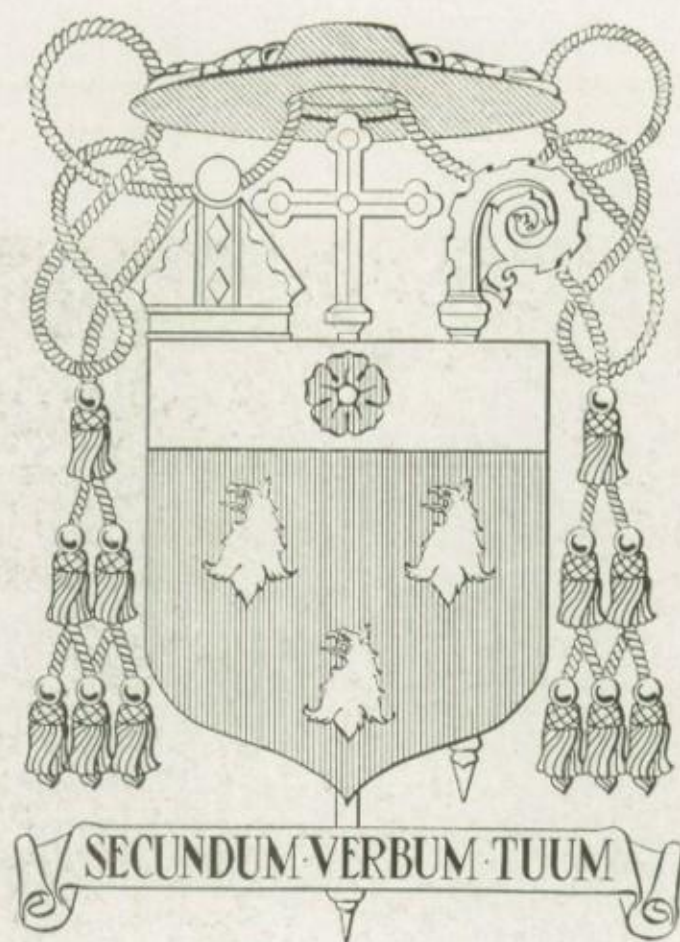

Operating on full scale again, the Alumni backed many activities, among which was a "king's feast".

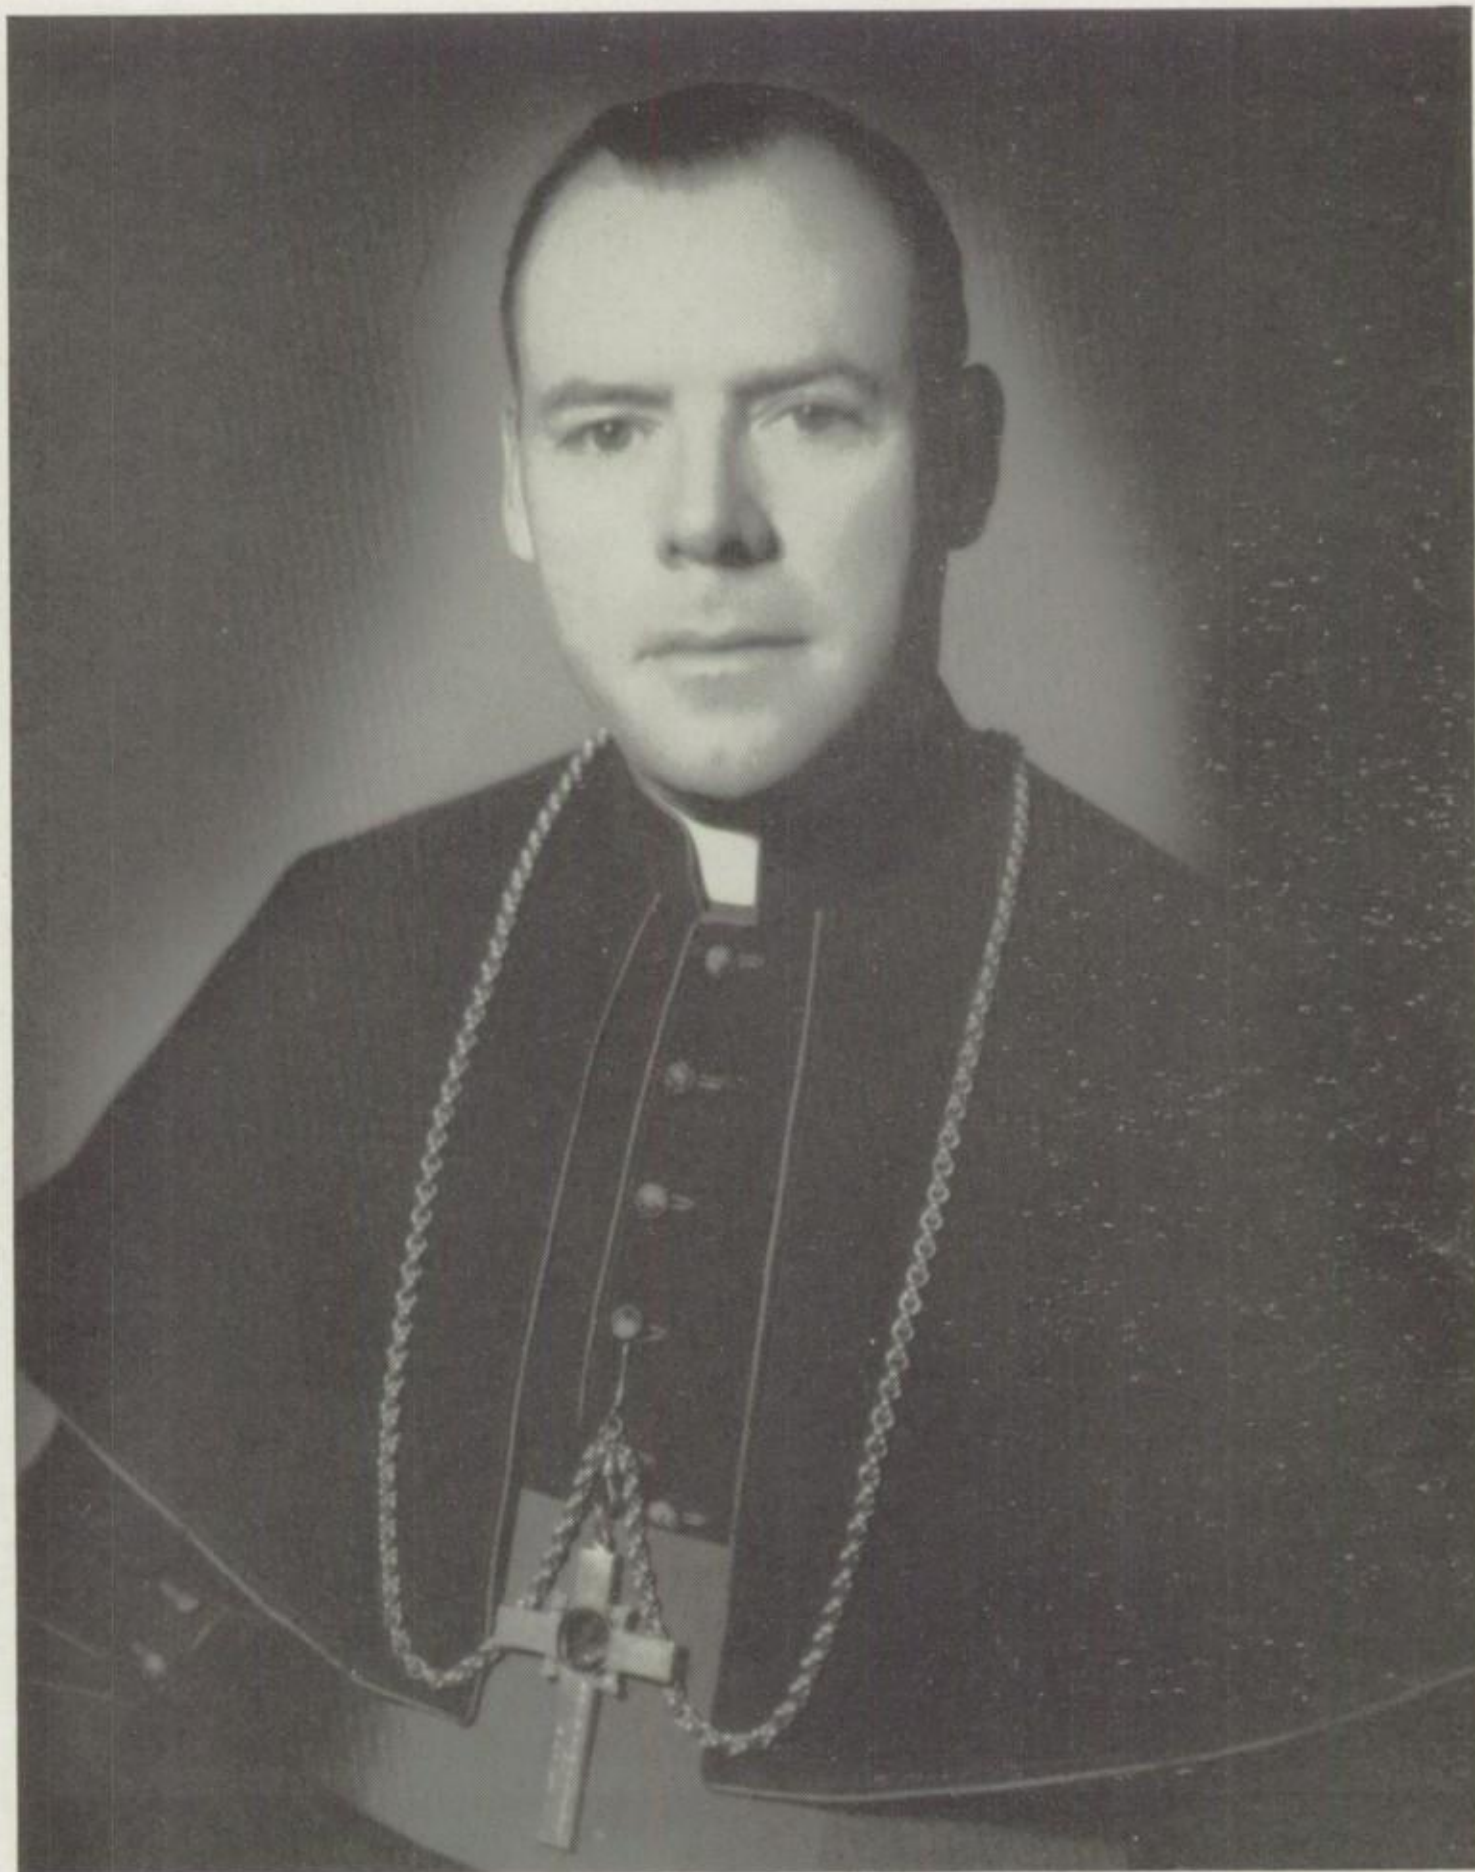

Physical development has also taken its prominence on the school's program for a well-rounded education. Working hand in hand with studies, athletics have furnished the students with that indispensable phase of relaxation. This necessary diversion has not only served to develop stronger bodies but also to create sharper and more acute intellects. Central's teams have done well to bring the little building on Belmont into the limelight of sports and add to the already glorious past.

A Parting Word To The Graduates

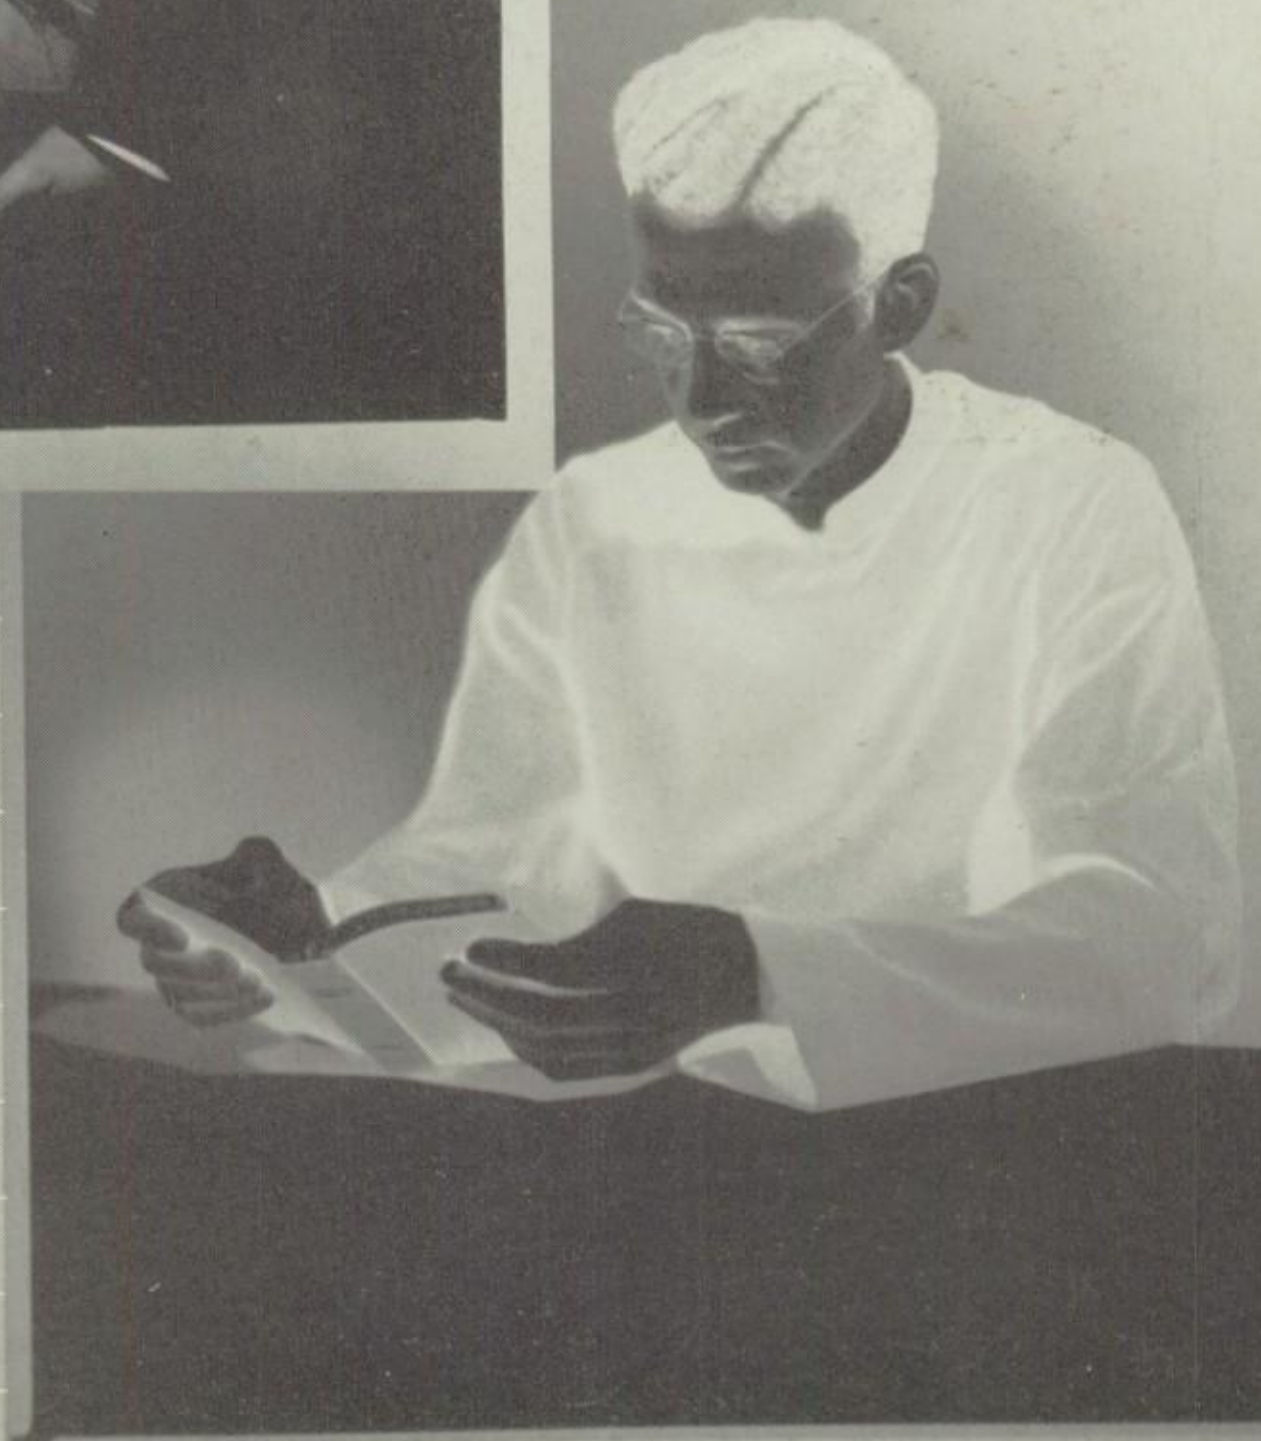

FATHER J. SHEEHY, C.S.B.
Principal

You have now come to the end of your stay at Catholic Central. And yet the exercise which marks the end is strangely called "Commencement." And rightly so! For you have not yet begun to live, and your stay at Catholic but marked your advent to young manhood. How different in body, the young men now graduating are from the boys who came here four years ago! You have advanced in age. And how different in mind these sophisticated Seniors are from the timid Freshmen of four years ago! You have advanced in wisdom. Throughout these four years your priest teachers ascended the altar each morning to beg the good God that you would likewise advance in grace. If, during these days which will soon be but a memory, your model was the Boy-Christ

Who advanced in age and wisdom and grace before God and men, you are a shining example of the effects of a Catholic education. Assuming this, Catholic Central, speaking for Holy Mother Church, is proud to present you with a Catholic school diploma. In the days ahead, of which these June days are but a "Commencement," keep your eyes on your Model of High School days and continue to advance with Him in age and wisdom and grace. Only thus will you capture the peace and happiness of youth to carry with you through life to eternity. Go in peace!

CLASS OFFICERS

BRUNO J. SINKUS, Treasurer

GERALD R. COYLE, President

JAMES W. MADIGAN, Secretary

THOMAS E. BRENNAN, Vice-President

Seniors

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY—St. Catherine—John's height, swarthiness and taciturnity gave him the nickname "Indian"; his powerful frame and athletic prowess won him a place on the Varsity football squad. Interested in science, he has constructed motor boats for himself and has given quite a bit of attention to radio. He has chosen aeronautics as his life's work.

AGACINSKI, THADDEUS LEONARD—St. Thomas the Apostle—Ted is one of the school's most deft bowlers, and the 'ne plus ultra' of her cultured savants, as his daily visit to the library, active interest in music, and his A-average will bear out. When not consulting Webster or rolling the ball down the alley, he can be found defending in heated argument the merits of Detroit's own Red Wings. Although English is his favorite subject, Ted is at present aiming at a future in chemistry.

ANSTETT, CHARLES JOSEPH—St. Luke—Although he is always unassuming, Chuck is universally well-liked by those who know him. He is a devotee of hockey and baseball, and sometimes takes a whirl at the harmonica. With another instrument, the clarinet, he tooted earnestly for two years in the band. As a commercial artist, he hopes to turn his ability in drawing to his financial benefit.

ASHER, JAMES JOHN—Visitation—Kindness, thoughtfulness, friendliness and loyalty were some of the splendid virtues which Jim developed during his past four years at C.C.H. As an honor student, Jim has found his way into the University of Detroit where he will study journalism. His favorite sport is swimming, and his favorite pastime dancing. His quick wit and easy going has won him many lasting friends.

ASTON, JAMES DOUGALL—St. Luke—Jim has earned a reputation for his loyalty and friendliness at Catholic Central, and is blessed with a ready smile. He has entered into school activities by playing in the Band and as a member of the Science and Camera Clubs. Jim has also shown his skill on the basketball court while playing in the intramural league for four years. A course in Commerce and Finance at the University of Detroit will prepare him for a business career in later life.

BABINGTON, ROBERT DANIEL—St. Gregory—Bob has, by reason of his effervescent gaiety, made himself one of the best known members of the senior class. His brief stature did not prevent him from playing Freshman football and intramural basketball, nor from boxing intramurally. He wore out several pair of shoes during his tramps in the interests of the Shamrock business staff.

BARSON, ROBERT CHARLES—St. Benedict—As friendly as he is large is a tribute to Big Bob. As a stalwart defender on the Shamrock line he acquired much renown both for himself and the famed eleven. All-city and All-State nomination gives some testimony of Bob's tremendous football ability. This experience should help Bob succeed in the business world of the future.

BECKER, JULIUS ADRIAN—Blessed Sacrament—Equally skillful at both piano and organ, Beck is so confident of his musical ability that he plans to rely on it for his livelihood. He shares with many others an admiration of the composer George Gershwin, and with an equal number the hobby of stamp collecting. Avidly interested in all sports, he tends towards baseball and hockey.

BELYEA, GEORGE ARTHUR—Blessed Sacrament—"Never a dull moment" was a phrase coined to fit what George means for any group. Worry is one word he has never learned and consequently he is a welcome addition to his host of friends. After school work prevented him from being more active at Central. He will use his own "line" in the sales line after graduation.

BENNETT, ROBERT A.—St. Cecilia—A power of trenchant retort, a liking for companionship, and consistent amiability have endeared him to a large wedge of C.C.H.'s population. He has played intramural basketball for three years, and finds additional amusement in bowling and dancing. He'll go to Michigan State to become a Forest Conservation Officer.

BRAND, THOMAS WILLIAM—St. Gregory—Enticed by the prospect of easy money, Tom left school in 1943 to work in the aviation industry. When the war was over, he re-entered Central to finish his education. He will spend his time in the future persuading the public that Chesterfields "satisfy."

BRENNAN, THOMAS EMMETT—Epiphany—The Vice-President of the Senior Class is probably quicker on the verbal trigger than any of his constituents. The fields of oratory and dramatics have seldom possessed a man of greater eloquence; the basketball court has rarely seen the like of his sparkling antics. A course in Law at U. of D. will put his recognized forensic ability to work.

BRISKEY, RONALD JOHN—St. Thomas, Apostle—Music lover, social light and athlete, all mingle in the intriguing personality of Mr. B. In ninth grade he played intramural basketball, and baseball during his junior year, in addition to being an attentive spectator at all sporting events. Visitors to the corner drug-store in a few years will find him behind the counter as a graduate pharmacist.

BURNSIDE, RICHARD HANLON—Gesu—Size is important in most athletes, but Dick dispensed with his to put his prowess to work on the basketball court in the "Blood n' Thunder" conflicts where more times than not his littleness was felt. He flashes a pleasantness at all times, which is a gift to any man. The outdoors fascinate him and a proposed study of forestry at State seem to indicate he will follow his fascination literally.

BURRESS, ROBERT EMMETT—Gesu—Always to be found at any and every social function both in and out of school, Bob has made his reputation as Catholic Central's most eligible bachelor. Golf, swimming, and boxing share his attention also. His liking for physics and science in general is one reason why he has chosen to become an engineer.

CAMPBELL, EDWARD EUGENE—Christ the King—It's often been said that in High School we meet friends we would like to keep all our lives. Ed is one of these. He plays baseball with the Detroit Baseball Federation; and here at school he boxed and played intramural football and basketball. After graduation he will devote himself to the preservation of Michigan's resources as a conservation officer.

Seniors

CANFIELD, JAMES EDWARD—Visitation—Jimmy's unbounded vim is evidenced by the extent of his interests, which include music, the graphic arts, dramatics, and writing for the Spectrum. He became a member of the Band in his Sophomore year; and all those who saw "Angel Street" last year can attest to the excellence of his acting.

CARNEY, JOHN MICHAEL—Precious Blood—All of John's exploits at Catholic Central have proved him to be a man of complete self-sufficiency, and one whose determined decisions are seldom altered. His physical capabilities are apparent in his success in three years of varsity hockey.

CASEY, ROBERT HENRY—St. John, the Baptist—Bob, an import from the Hall of the Divine Child, continued the I.H.M. training by making the Honor Roll in his frosh and soph years. Chemistry proved attractive to him while here. His enthusiasm for riding and the hunt occupy his leisure time.

CHAPPER, MARTIN FRANCIS—Visitation—During the last four years Marty has made his name a synonym for brilliance, wit, ingenuity and dependability. Although he is active in practically every school function, his enviable record as a Gabriel Richard Club member, and his resourcefulness among the silent cast of backstage artists are his outstanding achievements. Unusually skillful in science and mathematics, Marty hopes to be a Mechanical Engineer.

CHATEL, GEORGE ARTHUR—St. Brigid—Heavily built, with an easily provoked and lingering smile, George has returned to school after an enforced absence of some eighteen months in Uncle Sam's Naval forces. He threw his weight around with the varsity football team for a season, and played intramural basketball. On leaving Central he will, after a period of training, enter the printing trade.

CLINCH, MYLES CHRISTOPHER—Madonna—Central finds no more loyal supporter than Myles Clinch. He occupied a front seat at all the athletic events and all the plays. His interest in sports is not restricted to watching, however, and he participates actively in football, baseball, and bowling. After leaving he probably will take up a career in industry.

CONDER, EDWARD JAMES—St. Agnes—His enthusiasm coupled with his carefree spirit has won cheerful "Ed" many friends. This lover of the great outdoors also took a successful try at boxing and football. His marks in passing years show the effects of his prowess in the literary line. Ed will achieve his boyhood ambition when he completes a study of forestry at Michigan State College.

COOK, EDWIN THOMAS—St. Matthew—A carefree and fun-loving nature has made "Cookie" the social boy of the Senior Class, and won for him the friendship of many Centralites, as well as the strong admiration of the opposite sex. A great outdoor man and a lover of nature, we find Ed each year in the woods of the Upper Peninsula. This dreary world will welcome the sparkle of Ed's convivial nature.

COONEY, WILLIAM JOHN—Gesu—Typical of the student body of Catholic Central is affable Bill Cooney. Not particularly distinguished in any one field, he is industrious and energetic, and gives equal attention to all his many interests. He enjoys most sports, showing particular favor to bowling, ice skating and football. Uncertain as to his future, he hopes it will involve a minimum of English and a maximum of science.

COTE, JOSEPH BERNARD—Blessed Sacrament—Possessing much of that indefinable, intangible "stuff" that makes a man personable, Bob is a welcome and refreshing addition to any group, anywhere. His particular fondness for outdoor life reveals his athletic tendencies and restless spirit. Equipped with a disarming smile and keenness of perception which has made numerous friends, he will contribute his share in prolonging the Ford dynasty in your future.

COYLE, GERALD ROBERT—Blessed Sacrament—Jerry's warm, friendly smile and sparkling personality captured for him the exclusive title of Senior President. Although his scholastic and athletic activities demand most of his time, he manages to squeeze in a few "licks" on his clarinet and spin some of his favorite jazz records. He hopes to follow in his father's footsteps in the field of dentistry.

CRANDON, JERRY GEORGE—St. John Berchman's—As he followed his academic course through four years at Central, Jerry attracted the admiration of his more frenetic friends for his ability to take life as it comes, and remain unperturbed in the face of any happening, good or bad. Reserved but friendly, slow but thorough, he will work in the unromantic but financially rewarding field of lithography.

CULLEN, WILLIAM JAMES—Holy Rosary—Because of a friendly and generous nature, Bill has been adopted by all his classmates. For two years now, football has occupied his after-class hours, and the Varsity found his talent to their advantage. Scientifically inclined, he has applied himself here for a mechanical course in the future.

CURRIE, THOMAS ARTHUR—St. Matthew—One of the artier members of the Catholic Central family, Tom delights in two cultural pursuits: classical music and dramatics. He can claim unusual distinction in the latter category, having been for the last three years a member, and the make-up artist, of the Catholic Theater. Musically, he was a member of our band for three years. It is in this field that his vocational preference lies, since he aspires to be a concert musician and composer.

CWIKLINSKI, LEON MICHAEL—Immaculate Conception—A coach's dream of the ideal athlete is materialized in the person of "Chips." A rabid sport enthusiast and an ardent student are but two of the characteristics of this Centralite. His far-reaching abilities have probed into the realms of sports, study and society. In the classroom and around the campus his versatile antics and beaming countenance has made him a distinguished classmate.

CZARNECKI, ROBERT ANTHONY—St. Jude—The quiet concentration which he has exhibited in his study is one of Bob's most dominant characteristics. His favorite Summer sport is canoeing; and in the Winter he enjoys tobogganing and skating; in all seasons he delights in long automobile jaunts. Bob is, incidentally, a staunch member of the Physics Club. His further education will embrace the study of chemistry.

Seniors

CZARNY, EDWARD MICHAEL—Transfiguration—From a vantage point in 12-1, Ed dispensed his bits of wit and wisdom. Possessing excellent musical taste, he admires good jazz, dixieland preferred; in addition he is a devotee of the modern dance. He joined the Camera and Science clubs, no doubt prompted to the later by his liking for mathematics.

DAVIS, FREEMAN CARY—St. Theresa—Freeman "Free man" Davis graduates a gentleman of leisure, headed towards a teaching chair in some yet unfounded institute of learning where the teacher will do his all towards bettering education. Freeman's contribution to C.C. is a four years' band service, clarinetting all the while.

DE BELISO, NICHOLAS LEO—Holy Rosary—"Nick" numbers himself among the huge class of '47, but an unheard member whose activity is of the silent type. He did don the cleats and shoulder pads in the fall—and all year round did a neat job on the books. A quick wit, a ready smile and a lot of willingness has made him a class friend.

DELANEY, JERARD EMMETT—Epiphany—A personality crammed with good nature has made "Jerry" a very popular senior. This member of both the Band and the Physics Club is also an outstanding student of the sciences and accomplished in the art of horsemanship. Already possessing his apprentice papers, Jerry is well on the way towards attaining his goal of full-fledged pharmacist.

DONAHUE, JAMES PETER—St. Agnes—Predominately present in this young ambitious Irishman are the characteristics of a good student and athlete. Excelling in both curricular and social activities, Jim has become popular with his fellow students. His performance on the gridiron is no surprise to the many who know him. After a study of law at Notre Dame he intends to follow his father as prosecuting attorney.

DOYLE, JAMES WILLIAM—Blessed Sacrament—Though not from the old South, still Jim possesses that same undisturbed manner and spacious deliberation characteristic of our southern neighbors. As a loyal Shamrock backer, no activity sponsored by C.C. was wanting of his welcome presence and staunch support. Even though not a prominent scholar or athlete, nevertheless Jim's stay here might well be termed a success.

DRAPER, WILLIAM EARL—Annunciation—The man with the curly red hair has amazed his professors by his invariably high marks, having been in the St. Basil's Club for two years. He pounds the piano with remarkable competence, and is an authority on popular music. His yen for science probably explains his membership in the Physics Club.

DRESDEN, WILLIAM ANTHONY—Visitation—Born a natural musician, Bill is recognized as the maestro of the keyboards, a master of the 88's. His popular interpretation of Jerome Kern and Freddie Slack seem to top the request list of his host of admirers. His musical knowledge and dexterity on the ivories have added to the success of Fr. Clemens' dramatical work. Bill's masterful touch may some day echo in the Musical Hall of Fame.

DUANE, JOHN WILLIAM—Precious Blood—A way with people, and a taste in clothes are counted by Johnny as his most eminent blessings. By his own admission, girls bulk large in his life, and he, presumably in theirs. His knack of making friends and conversation with equal ease will help him in his prospective dental practice.

DUNK, NORBERT DAVID—Blessed Sacrament—"Norb" is one of our smallest scholars. He offsets his shortness of stature by the generosity of his heart. Always ready to help anyone, he made many friends during his four years' stay at Central. A dead-eye on the basketball floor, he has materially aided two intramural teams.

ELMER, LAWRENCE JOHN—St. Clare—During four years Larry has been the criterion for the class of '47. First in scholastic achievement, crowding the top in extra-curricular enthusiasm, he is among his classmates a perfect addition to a friendly atmosphere. In lending his talents to such tasks as editing the Shamrock and writing for the Spectrum, besides playing baseball and intramural sports, he has exhibited an ability that will carry him far in the future.

ERWIN, VINCENT THOMAS—St. Agnes—Last of the Erwin dynasty at Catholic Central, Vince has worthily upheld the family reputation. Although he came to us in the Tenth Grade from St. Agnes, he quickly entered the swing of things and became an eminent member of school society. After hours usually finds him playing his favorite sport, soft ball.

ESSLIN, FRANCIS LOUIS—Our Lady of Sorrows, Farmington—Frank's "educated toe," which has been put to such great advantage on the gridiron, and his ability on the basketball court, have drawn for him countless plaudits from a host of sport fans. This fame, however, left no ill effect upon his friend-winning disposition, for Frank, or more intimately "Waldo," always magnetizes with his beaming smile and engaging personality. He will further his education in college, with an accent on photography.

FESSLER, PAUL RICHARD—Precious Blood—A tall, comely youth has been familiar for some time in the halls and chambers of our school. His name of course is Paul Fessler. The realm in which he has most distinguished himself is that of the skating rink, as a member of Fr. Cullen's hockey team. He enjoys all sports, however, and is especially interested in building and flying model airplanes.

FITZGERALD, GEORGE ROBERT—St. Brigid—Making the most of his opportunities, large and laughter-loving Fitz has been unceasingly active in school affairs. He was a stalwart forward on the varsity football team; he was an intramural basketball; less formally, he hunts, hikes and bowls. He joined the Physics, Camera and Dramatic clubs; in the latter he was one of the hard-working crew who hammered together the scenery. His ambition is a degree in Chemical Engineering.

FLOWERS, DERVIN LEO—Epiphany—Having matched bruise for bruise with the taller boys, "Blossom" Flowers can proudly number himself among Central's football heroes. In addition to his Varsity football exploits, he played some noteworthy intramural basketball. His fine piano was a standout in Ron Friese's band. His maiden effort in the dramatic society was made in his Senior year, but he gave the excellent performance that everyone expected.

Seniors

FRIES, THOMAS JOHN—St. Gabriel—If the old saying, "might makes right" were true, Tom would be infallible. His Herculean effort on the gridiron gained for him an enviable reputation in football. This, however, is not the only place where Tom releases his vibrant spirit, for he is an active and popular figure wherever he goes. With this same aggressiveness he will continue his education in college.

FULLER, DONALD JOSEPH—Precious Blood—Don has completed four years at Central and earns a "well done." His fine qualities are already earning for him dividend returns. Golfing, baseball and swimming occupy his leisure time. An alert mind will direct Don's future toward a D.D.S. degree.

FUNKE, DONALD PAUL—St. Elizabeth—"Don", a midget in body but much bigger in brain, has four good years to his credit at C.C. A quintet member of four years basketball fun, and a lengthy period at the books complete his Central tenure. The varied field of engineering magnetizes him.

GAGNON, WILLIAM LAWRENCE—St. Leo—Bill is a man of few words. However, his quiet nature has not injured his school activities, for he is an intramural basketball stalwart and a hardworking member of the Physics Club. Bill intends to spend his life looking at sick molars, and with this in view he will enter the University of Detroit.

GALLA, LAWRENCE VINCENT—Epiphany—It is through the clever craftsmanship of Larry that the ingenious and original sets which are a prime factor in our dramatic productions came into being. His unceasing backstage effort and his modest, unassuming personality have attracted many friends. A four-year member of the St. Basil Club with a yen for science and an appreciation of music and the theater, Larry looks toward a future in the ranks of the Basilian Fathers.

GARIEPY, FRANCIS GREGORY—St. Luke—By his very physical appearance, Frank is the type of gay optimism; his ruddy face has brightened many a gathering. He blew a lusty saxophone is his favorite sport, and one of his chief interests, although he did play basketball on the intramural team.

GATES, JOHN EARL—St. Brigid—Soft spoken, easy to approach, John is one of our most popular students. His name was on the Honor Roll for two years, freshman and sophomore. His most favored leisure time activities include bowling, golf, and an occasional bit of reading. At the University of Detroit his intellectual progress will be turned along medical lines.

GAWRONSKI, CHESTER JOSEPH—Assumption—Determination coupled with ambition spurred "Chet" on to gridiron recognition during his four years at C.C. His football memories are his fondest. Equipped with a sense of humor, he has always been a welcome member of his group of friends. The Monogram Club listed him a prominent member. Academically, Chester will apply his talents after graduation in the field of engineering.

GEBERT, ALFRED LOUIS—Holy Name—Though modest and reserved, "Red" has a warm friendliness that radiates from within and expresses his true color. His quiet unassuming manner and willingness to learn have successfully guided him through his years of education. When not at work he extracts a great deal of enjoyment from an outdoor life of swimming and baseball. Regardless of work or pleasure, Red's conservative outlook is combined with rare deliberation.

GERAK, JOSEPH ANTHONY—Assumption of B.V.M.—For three long years injuries stifled dreams of football, during which time Joe assumed the job as student manager. A fourth attempt seemed assured of success when injuries once again sidelined him. In an attempt to remain on contact with athletics, Joe then turned his activity to sports editor of the Spectrum, and at the same time managing the football team. The same resolved spirit will prove more than a challenge for future obstacles.

GOODWILLIE, RICHARD EDWARD—Epiphany—It can honestly be said about Dick that all who know him like him. Academically, he has been among the top few each year he has been here; athletically, he has starred on four intramural basketball teams. His keen mathematical sense will serve the public after he becomes an engineer.

GORDON, VINCENT JAMES—St. Brigid—"Vince" finishes his stay at Shamrock High after contributing his brawn to the Varsity football squad thereby earning a place in the Monogram Club. Otherwise by quietly and sincerely using his God given talents at school has given him the mechanical urge and has headed him towards an engineering course.

GRAHAM, WILLARD JOHN—St. Rita—Willard is a study in quiet affability. His Varsity football feats are well known to all who follow the Blue and White; he has also boxed and played intramural basketball. At the same time his activities in the social sphere has been just short of amazing. His affinity for mathematics will help him as he enters the field of business.

HAMANN, WALTER JOSEPH—St. Cecilia—Big "Walt" can always be depended upon to be handy when help is needed. For two years he has contributed his musical talents, playing the trumpet in the marching band. Walt plans to enter the University of Detroit for a course in Commerce and Finance.

HANER, FREDERICK THEODORE—Visitation—When he leaves Catholic Central Ted can truthfully say that he left the school richer than he found it, for he influenced the organization of both the hockey and golf teams, and played on both. His interests also include football, baseball and dancing. His genuine good nature and ability to compose telling quips have helped make him "one of the boys."

HARMON, DAVID PATRICK—Gesu—If wit is a measure of success, Dave is well on his way down "easy street." Although the classroom demands much of his time, he still finds time enough to follow a hobby in music and keep up with his social obligations. After careful preparation at the University of Detroit, Dave plans to enter a career that will lead him to a berth as one of our foremost financiers.

Seniors

HARRISON, CLARENCE WILLIAM—St. Brigid—"Pat" or "Tiger" are two familiar labels for a very familiar figure at Central. Pat's post-war return to the books climaxes four years of fine book work, plus book and basketball performances. He was Vice-President of the Monogram Club in his Senior year. A law course at U. of M. is in the offing for Pat.

HENRY, GERARD ANTHONY—Precious Blood—Jerry's silence in the classroom often betrays his deep thinking and qualities of a clever mind. His spontaneous humor is always a part of him, whether peering from behind a stack of books in school or just in casual conversation among his friends at the neighborhood bowling alley. With his thoughts of tomorrow wandering through the "wild blue yonder," Jerry hopes to step into a career in aviation.

HERBERT, DONALD OLIVER—St. Agnes—Since "Tiny" left St. Agnes he has carved an impression at Central that will long be remembered. His athletic abilities were put to good use in both Varsity football and baseball where he, in short order, rose to the top. A natural winner on the field, Tiny now plans to try a hand at winning a living in the skies as a commercial pilot.

HESS, JOHN JOSEPH—Visitation—A "crackerjack" backstage, a profound student of the books and an all-around good-fellow is John's personality in a nutshell. He has never taken an active part in sports, but his presence on the sidelines could always be counted on. His ambition is to master a course in engineering at the Chrysler Institute.

HIER, DANIEL JAMES—Epiphany—Dan's traits of ambition and determination have manifested themselves in class as well as on the football field, and have sparked his four years at Central. The classroom and the gridiron were not the only outlets for his energy, for basketball and a vigorous outdoor life of hunting have shared his enthusiasm for sports. In the years to come you will probably find Dan holding a long-sought position as an electrician.

HIGLEY, ALLAN FRANCIS—St. Luke—Al is Catholic Central's prime personality boy; his glossy hair and Pepsodent smile send the opposite sex into ecstasies. Athletic activities at school were limited to Freshman football, though he does engage in bowling and hockey during off-campus hours.

HITCHINGHAM, CARL JERRY—St. Gregory—From his first Freshman dreams "Hitch" aspired to be a member of the famed "Sham-rock" eleven. His Senior year finally saw the fulfillment of this desire as he donned the Blue and White jersey. Retiring and demure, his years at Central revealed his code of life, "Success through attentive silence." When the routine of daily life becomes tiresome Jerry can always be found refreshing his spirits in the pleasant delights of outdoor life.

HUNTER, KENNETH DENOMY—Christ the King—Never happier than when hip-deep in auto parts, Ken is a youthful Ford. He's always ready to give others help, whether in matters mechanical or scholastic. His intramural athletic activities have included football, basketball, and boxing. Along with rebuilding old cars, his hobby is photography. Influenced by his mechanical leanings, Ken will go to Michigan State to study mechanical engineering.

JAZDZYK, EDMUND PETER—St. Thomas, Apostle—Eddie's chief interest is motion picture histrionics, and his position as Assistant Chief of Service at the Fox Theater seems to determine some phase of the theater as his future profession. Although his scholastic record and knack for chemistry would suggest a contrary career as a teacher. Nevertheless, with his neat appearance, resourcefulness, and friendly disposition, Eddie is well equipped to carry on successfully in either field.

JOSAITIS, DONALD JAMES—Epiphany—"Inquisitive" is the word for "Jose"—and when not inquiring into the whatness and why-ness of things mechanical, he prefers to shoulder his "22" and "a-hunting he goes." Other than this, Don, an amiable, personable and accommodating person, does well scholastically; and adding up all these qualities—the product is in for some success.

KEEGAN, THOMAS EARL—Epiphany—Tom doesn't say much, nor does he ever appear conspicuous, yet a truer companion or a more determined worker has never attended this school, as his friends will testify. Placid and retiring, he is inclined to close ties of friendship. Athletically, he played reserve football in 1945; academically, he has maintained consistently high standards.

KANKA, ROBERT JOSEPH—St. Raymond—Bob's eyes always have that mischievous twinkle which indicates his longing for the bright side of life. Seldom at rest, his antics have provided hearty laughs to four sets of classmates. His going will deprive our halls of the sound of his merry laughter.

KELLY, LEO JOSEPH—Gesu—Personal magnetism might best describe diminutive "Kell" judging from the number of friends he has attracted while at Shamrock High. Though he is the silent type, his presence is always felt and appreciated. With his interests centered in the field of journalism, his future as a "scoop sleuth" promises to be interesting and successful.

KIRK, JAMES HOWARD—St. Brigid—Modestly describing himself as "God's gift to the female sex," Jim admits of some proficiency in the social pastimes. His skill extends to most sports, with emphasis on golf; and he has played some intramural basketball. No doubt his esteem for the mathematical sciences have influenced his desire to become a Certified Public Accountant.

KOSTELNICK, JOSEPH FRANCIS—St. Cyril and Methodius—Industrious and ambitious, Joe has always been mindful of the primary objective in his schooling, the attainment of a sound Catholic education. When not behind a drug counter, his social activities are covered by dancing and skating. Since hard work is one of the most revealing symptoms of success, the future will likely find him using his talents in a pharmaceutical laboratory.

KOCZARA, ROBERT ALLEN—St. Thomas, Apostle—Bob is best known as the "sentimental gentleman from Hamtramck." His compelling attraction for the opposite sex has more than filled his social calendar. Besides his extensive social pursuits, he played freshman football and other intramural sports. He will satisfy his scientific longing after a "hitch" in the Navy.

Seniors

KRAEMER, RICHARD EDWARD—St. Matthew—Dick says a little, does a lot, and works hard to be that way. Though mild mannered and quiet, still he has proven himself a capable student, and possesses a better than average appetite for Physics. With a natural inclination towards science and medicine, Dick feels himself best fitted for pharmaceutical future.

KUDLA, NORBERT WALTER—Our Lady, Queen of Apostles—Quick-witted and good natured Norb is a hit with the fellows as well as with the opposite sex. His athletic favorites are baseball and basketball, while his social preferences include dancing and parties. His favorite subject, bookkeeping, is a testimony of his future plans in the business world.

KUSINSKI, ROY MICHAEL—St. Elizabeth—A prominent member of Catholic Central's Polish colony, Roy aspires to join the staff of some newspaper, either as a photographer or writer. His determination and stability certainly fit him to accomplish that end. Although he is an enthusiast for almost all sports, he abhors that of tennis.

LABADIE, NORBERT EDWARD—St. Matthew—Soft spoken and unobtrusive, Bert has made his way through high school in a worthy manner. Teachers and students alike have observed the diligence shown toward his studies, and the results obtained in his marks. Bert plans to enter college in quest of a degree in engineering.

LARK, LAWRENCE JOHN—Gesu—This gregarious believer in good fellowship has continually panicked the class with bits of droll humor. Larry has on and off belonged to the Spectrum staff in preparation for the vocation of author and journalist, for which his talents in the fields of English and Literature have suited him. Books and bookmen alike are well-known by him, though he has not neglected the amusements of basketball and bowling. He plans to enter the doors of U. of D. after graduation.

LASECKI, JAMES JOSEPH—St. Rita—"Jumbo" is the third edition of Laseckis published by Central. His diminutiveness did not prevent him from numbering himself among the Varsity Shamrocks, where his little presence on the gridiron was felt mightily. Active also in intramural sports, Jim's plans for the immediate future are still in the offering.

LEAVY, JOHN JOSEPH—Gesu—Jack has always been an earnest partaker in school activities; on the basketball court, on the ball field and in the classroom, he always seeks to do his best. No slacker in the social whirl, he often finds recreation in tripping the heavy fantastic. He enjoys himself most, however, when whizzing down the ice in pursuit of a puck. Study at the University of Detroit will fit him to be an engineer.

LeBAY, JAMES RILEY—Visitation—A perpetual grin and good nature to match are "Smiley's" notable virtues. This unvarying warmth has won the strong and appreciative friendship of his fellow students. Jim has conducted himself well in all his studies. A keen lover of the mathematical sciences, he tends towards a career in electrical engineering.

LEE, MARK OWEN—St. Luke—The face of Owen Lee should be familiar to those who frequent the school's dramatic productions, since he has starred in nearly every one since his Sophomore year; indeed, his chief interests are directed towards the movies and the legitimate theater. Owen is also an accomplished musician, being especially skilled in the physics of music. In this musical capacity he was a mainstay of the band.

LEE, ROBERT EDWARD—Visitation—Bob has a southern drawl which matches the leisurely pace of his activity. The great extent of his potentialities was revealed when he won an award in the Adcraft Essay Contest. Such an accomplishment is proof of his worth, and a pledge of what he will achieve in later years.

LYONS, DAVID FREDERICK—Visitation—Dave is blessed with ever-welling good nature and a contagious smile. Golfing without a scorecard is his favorite Summer pastime. A four year honor student, he has demonstrated his ability to derive a certain pleasure from the intangible stuff called Mathematics; he is a pillar of Fr. McMahon's Physics Club. In the years to come he'll refresh our age with new ideas in mechanical engineering.

MacDONALD, FRANCIS JOSEPH—St. Catherines—Quiet, curly-headed Frank is the unobserved type of Central grad., but beneath that quiet exterior a great deal of deep thought has helped to mature an all-around candidate for the business world of accounting in later years.

MacDONALD, LAWRENCE CHARLES—Visitation—Genial, likeable Larry, spark-plug of the technicians in the Dramatic Club, has put many a bright star in the spotlight and has accentuated many a scene with his electrical meanderings. He is also reknown for his winning ways and wit. Never has one of C. C.'s great teams had a more loyal follower. Electricity, which has been Mac's chief interest in the past, now lights up his future.

MADIGAN, JAMES WILFRED—Precious Blood—"Slip" is probably the most intellectually gifted member of this year's graduating class. He is an active participant in a great many extra-scholastic activities; he was Fr. Martin's right hand man as manager of the football, baseball and basketball teams, and was Sports Editor of the Spectrum in his Junior year. His classmates showed their esteem for him when they elected him secretary of the Senior class.

MANOS, RICHARD WARREN—Blessed Sacrament—Dick is one of Catholic Central's outstanding intramural athletes; he played baseball as a freshman, basketball in his first three years, and boxed for two. More, he is a bowling and roller skating enthusiast. His naval record includes twenty-three months aboard an aircraft carrier; his future includes plans for a degree in law at Michigan.

MARSHAL, KENNETH GILBERT—Assumption Grotto—Big-hearted Ken, the celebrity with the genial smile, a militant school spirit, and opportune financial aid has gained in the past four years, a high scholastic standing, particularly in mathematics. A college education, with the renowned science of numbers figuring most predominately, will further Ken on the vocational road he chooses as his own.

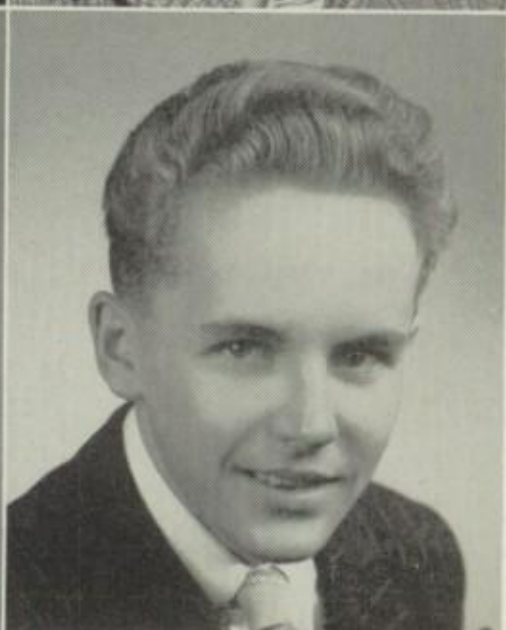

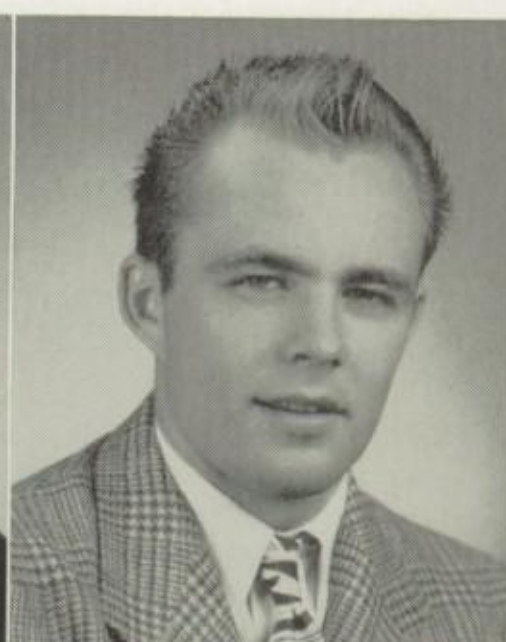

Seniors

MARSHKE, JEROME GRANT—St. Brigid—Deceptiveness, shiftiness, and elusiveness are components which produced a brilliant and dashing halfback in the person of Jerry. His plucky attitude and determined will extended beyond the gridiron into the classroom, where he became a prominent figure and likeable companion. Away from the campus Jerry extracts considerable enjoyment from reading modern novels. Jerry looks towards a business course at U. of M. to continue his education.

MARTELL, JAMES RICHARD—Precious Blood—A sparse thatch of yellow hair and a massive frame are Jim's most noticeable physical marks. He lent his athletic talents to the Varsity football team, and played some intramural basketball; his sporting interests also include hunting and fishing. Interested in Agriculture, he will enroll at Michigan State to study that science.

MARTZ, ROBERT RICHARD—St. Brigid—Bob's resolved effort and determined spirit on the gridiron captured for him the position as first-string guard. In addition to Bob's stamina on the football field, his sparkling personality and keen witticisms have won for him the admiration of many. His agreeable bearing and understanding outlook will blend to achieve for him a future as a business administrator.

McAULIFFE, WILLIAM THOMAS—St. Agnes—Good-natured, smiling "Bill" can be found at all the sporting events and other activities of the school. He was a Freshman boxer of some merit and played in all the intramural athletics. Although he is a faithful member of the Physics Club, Bill's favorite subject is English and he hopes to put his talents to use in the study of law at U. of D. He leaves behind him a host of friends who unite in wishing him well in the future.

McCANN, JOHN JOSEPH—Blessed Sacrament—John has acquired the nickname "Brain Trust" for his ability to attain high marks with apparently no effort. His curricular success has not hampered his engaging in extra-curricular activities; most recently he has been a member of the Shamrock literary staff. Well suited for it mentally, John is desirous of becoming a doctor of medicine.

MCCARTHY, JOSEPH WILSON—St. Gregory—Volts and amps are "Mac's" specialty, and perhaps are the reason behind his generating such electric magnetism to attract his many friends who share in his fun. His knowledge of canines has enabled him to display prize ribbons won by his wire-haired terriers. Through the courtesy of Mac & Co., too, our stage lighting effects have been professionally executed. In the field of electronics lies his future work.

MCDONNELL, THOMAS JOSEPH—St. Matthew—"Tom" travelled far for his education all the way from St. Matthew's neighborhood. His uncle Father Frank Walsh has watched his progress with interest; and now the product—a quiet, sincere, courteous, friendly and well-informed lad, a credit to his determination, rolls off the assembly line. His future is yet to be planned but it will be done carefully.

McKENDRY, WILLIAM JOHN—St. Gregory—An enthusiastic, eager and ardent sport fan, Mac has displayed his best in the field of athletics. His natural inclination toward basketball, combined with a fine scholastic standing have made his years here a success. After completing his higher education at U. of D., Mac hopes to remain in the sports world as a columnist.

McLELLAN, BERNARD LINDSAY—St. Margaret Mary—"A friend in need"—Mac is ever willing to lend a hand and do what he can to help others. With an unusual talent in music, he plays a smooth violin in the school orchestra and has been a staunch member of the Glee Club for three years. Mac finds enjoyment in all sports, but his special hobby is radio. He hopes one day to become a radio technician.

McMAHON, JOHN MARTIN—St. John—Mac is a member of that considerable company which consists of returned war veterans, having served twenty-one months in the Navy, sixteen of them overseas. For three years he has been a mainstay of the varsity football team. After finishing High School he will probably earn his living as a chemist.

McMASTER, DARRELL JOHN—Our Lady Queen of Heaven—A clarinetist and pianist of great finesse, "Mac's" interests have always been centered in modern musical circles. After two years' service in the school band, he went on to play in popular small dance bands in the city. Whether or not his musical abilities will continue to be used professionally, his associates will have many hours enjoying his humor and musical abilities.

McNAMARA, DANIEL ANTHONY—St. Brigid—Dan's a versatile lad whose yen for music has found him faithfully playing the clarinet for the Shamrocks for the past four years. Among his other interests are reading and dancing. Academically, physics with its fascinating phenomena interests him to the point of wanting to delve further into the field of electronics. On his graduation we will see Dan working for the Bell Telephone Co.

McNEIL, RAMON RUSSELL—St. Scholastica—Cheerful yet sincere, friendly yet unobtrusive, "Mac" has always been a faithful supporter of Shamrock doings wherever they occurred. The ancient art of fishing tops his list of hobbies and fills in the Summer months. An atomic world seems to beckon him, for although at ease with any subject, Ray takes particular interest in the sciences. His persevering nature along with his other qualities almost assures his success as a research chemist.

MINER, DONALD GEORGE—St. Brigid—Don is a perennial clown and one of the most tireless jesters of the Senior class. Sports, classroom, and a local fish market all partake of his boundless enthusiasm. He has played intramural football, and holds membership in the Camera and Glee clubs. Genial, jaunty and jocular Don will never lack friends, and his wit will see to it that they do not lack laughter.

MINAR, JOHN JEROME—St. Brigid—A steady hand and the ability to remain calm and cool in any situation have gained for Jack the title of "Master" hunter. His quiet good-natured ways, together with his continual application in studies have brought him considerable recognition. Jack absorbs a great deal of knowledge and enjoyment out of portraying his personal sentiments in writing. His future seems to indicate a course in chemical engineering.

MOYNAHAN, JOSEPH TIMOTHY—Epiphany—Joe is a quiet, friendly sort of a person. Although his size has kept him out of the athletic department, he has made up for this by hard work in the band and in the classroom. Joe has shown himself to be a boy of good character, high morals, truly worthy to be called a member of Catholic Central High.

Seniors

MUELLER, ROGER PAUL—Christ the King—"Rog" is a tall, good-looking fellow with a ready smile and a wit to match. His excellence in golf and social demeanor is equalled only by his ease in getting along with people. Under the affectionate guidance of Fr. Kelly "Rog" has been spurred to new heights in Latin. After a temporary stop at West Point he plans to satisfy his lifelong ambition in the field of aviation.

MULLALLY, JOHN VINCENT—St. Benedict—Each passing year has only served to impress upon those who knew him that Jack must have been born with that ever ready smile and easy-going manners. These qualities added to twelve years of Catholic education will greatly enhance his chances for success in his future occupation; at present he leans towards medicine, while bowling, basketball and baseball satisfy his sporting interests.

MURRAY, JOHN CLIFFORD—Visitation—Jack is the material out of which the very backbone of the school is formed. He has engaged creditably in the athletic and musical activities of Catholic Central; he has been on the honor roll during all of his four years. Although his vocation is undecided, he plans to follow one which will enable him to benefit from his skill in and liking for mathematics.

MURRAY, THOMAS PATRICK—St. Luke's—"Pat's" interests run the gamut from music, mechanics, and motors to just "puttering around". But music must be his first love, since he is not only one of the mainstays of the band but also plays in a dance orchestra. Pat intends to make a future of mechanical engineering for which purpose he hopes to enter the General Motors Institute at Flint.

NAPIERKOWSKI, EDWARD PETER—Blessed Sacrament—Take the words—congenial, smiling, taciturn, neat, conscientious, gifted and sincere, and you have a recipe for "Nap." Such ingredients as these have made it possible for Ed to do all things well in and around Shamrock High both scholastically and in lending his presence to things dramatic and scientific. His talents are headed towards the University of Toronto for an engineering course.

NELSON, JOHN ALVIN—Blessed Sacrament—Another suburbanite (from Highland Park) is John Nelson. Anything remotely resembling sport arouses "Sam's" interest, this no doubt accounting for his love of football, baseball, tennis, hockey and basketball. In tenth grade he was on the hockey team. Automobiles, whether new or old, are another of his hobbies. He was a member of the Physics Club, and was elected mission representative for his room.

NOETZEL, LOUIS SYLVESTER—St. Gregory—Reticence towers above all else in Louis, a familiar figure among the test tubes. His popularity among fellow-students is assured and his leadership in the realm of science is unquestioned. Although he takes an active interest in music, "Architectural Engineering" is plainly has a career had a more promising prospect than this ambitious aspirant toward fame.

NYMBERG, JEROME HENRY—Precious Blood—Vivacious and sociable, Jerry is recognized as an impeccable dresser and one of the more active socialites around the campus. Basketball, football and baseball all entered into his life at Central although he did not further them to Varsity positions. President of the Physics Club and member of the Student Council, Jerry plans to enter the engineering field.

OLES, DANIEL THOMAS—Epiphany—Aggressive yet friendly, Danny's likeable characteristics have given him four pleasant years at Central. As a devoted member of the Physics Club he displayed his scholastic talent; in addition, Danny exercised his athletic abilities in both football and baseball. His affable nature and strong regard for smooth music have gained for him much social prominence. A course in Physical Education attracts him.

O'MALLY, JEROME JOHN—St. Alphonsus, Dearborn—Glib of tongue, there is never a dull moment in any group where Jerry is present. Striving to gain a background for his future, he has been quite busy with his duties in the J. L. Hudson Co. and as a member of the Marine Reserve Corps. Horseback riding and dancing rounds out the rest of the schedule which has kept Jerry busy for four years.

ORLEMAN, GEORGE ANTHONY—Madonna—Bud has made many friends while he has been at C.C. His presence in the classroom has never for a moment gone unobserved. Because of his work after school, he was never able to join any of the varied teams, even though he is an all-around athlete. His choice of a life's work has not as yet been made.

OWENS, LEWIS DANIEL—St. Brigid—In "Looie" we can see a quiet, sober type of fellow; and yet on the other side of his personality we perceive a keen wit and a great imagination. In the line of extra-curricular activities basketball and a year on Fr. Martin's Reserve Eleven helped fill what little leisure time he had. Tomorrow will find him seeking election in the world of politics.

OWSIANY, THADDEUS STANLEY—Transfiguration—Ted (The Body) has loaned his torso to our Varsity grid squad, and furthered that activity with his drive. Study, too, has had its part in Ted's program, placing him on the Honor Roll for several years. His blueprint calls for a Business and Finance course prior to a planned enterprise.

PARROTT, CHARLES EDWIN—St. Luke—Affable, fun-loving Chuck is well known for his attainments in intramural basketball, but his particular interest in science has prompted him to study it more extensively in the Physics Club. He always keeps his fingers busy, either as one of the Spectrum's hard-working typists or as a piano keyboard addict. These factors will be invaluable to him as he faces a future career in medicine.

PARUSZKIEWICZ, JOSEPH MARTIN—St. Albertus—With his vast mental capacity and keen mind, Joe has enlarged his intellectual status during four hard working years at Catholic Central, maintaining the while a high standing in his class. When not mentally pressed, he pursues the out-door pleasures of hunting and fishing; in the classroom he enjoys most that period when Pascal's principal and Newton's laws are expounded.

PLOE, EDWARD JAMES—St. Matthew—Dynamic in the field of sports and capable in the realm of studies, Ed has proved himself a true Centralite. For the past two years he has sparked the formidable Central line as guard. With his subtle wit and delightful personality, he has acquired a host of friends. Uncertain, as yet, of his future work, with his personal traits he should feel quite confident.

Seniors

PORETTA, FRANCIS SAMUEL—St. Luke—When it comes to dramatics Frank possesses that old masterful "know how," and for the past three years the stage has been his second home. His unselfish sincerity and knack for making and keeping friends have made his high school days stand out. His versatility in intramurals and dramatics is matched only by his classroom endeavor. A successful past will only be overshadowed by a brilliant future in medical surgery.

POWELL, ROBERT JOHNSTON—St. Matthew—A friendly smile or a hardy laugh typify jovial Bob, a popular figure around Central's halls. Unless his mechanical genius is devoted to some old car, you will always find him neatly dressed and well-mannered. Bob is an ardent supporter of the Fighting Shamrocks, whether they are playing on the gridiron, the court or the diamond. To keep the medical profession in the family, Bob plans to attend Wayne University next Fall.

PUZIO, THADDEUS ALEXANDER—St. Stanislaus—Never out of step and always dependable, Ted has pounded vigorously for four years in the band section of the band. Being one of Arthur Murray's most promising pupils, he naturally enjoys dancing, but he is also an admirer of the great outdoors. His high marks in physics and chemistry have proved his skill in those sciences; he plans to pursue them as a career.

RANGER, EDWARD McDONALD—Annunciation—Far-famed as a cheer-leader and an accomplished actor, Ned is recognized as an eminent member of the student body. His theatrical talents have revealed themselves in five dramatical productions. His prominence on the Spectrum and Shamrock staffs exemplify his extensive and ambitious nature. In society Ned is a noted connoisseur of smooth and hot dance bands.

RAWLEY, ROBERT FRANK—St. John Berchman—Bob is the essence of a gentleman, but can be very handy at the art of self-defense. He is perfectly at home in every field of sport, singling out that of horseback riding as a favorite. His contribution to the band was by no means small; in fact, he was one of the few who stuck it out for four years. His college will be the U. of D.

REGAN, DONALD JEROME—Our Lady of Sorrows—A firm character and likeable disposition have fashioned Don into a desirable classmate. A prominent cheer-leader of two years' standing, Don's presence was always felt at any school activity, where his energetic spirit often furnished that necessary drive to point the way to another Shamrock victory. Though at present the field of mechanics has captivated his interests, his ambition points to a career as a draftsman.

REID, DANIEL JOSEPH—St. Matthew—Dan's charming personality and winning smile have won him friends in every circle in which he has moved. Even though outside work has somewhat limited his activities, he has been a spark plug of school spirit. "Red's" future is undecided as yet, but his next four years will be spent at college.

REID, JAMES BERNARD—Annunciation—Jim's impassive ways and sensible attitude have guided him through four successful years of high school rigors. When it comes to jazz or even two-beat dixie, he knows all the angles and shows his preference for modern trends of music. Jim's four-year membership on the Honor Roll, together with his colorful disposition, indicate strongly that he has an interesting and profitable career in commercial designing ahead of him.

REVITTE, ROBERT FRANCIS—Precious Blood—Probably the most distinguished linguist in the halls of Catholic Central is "Senor" Revitte. Tact, courtesy and an aptness for making friends are salient points of his character; God seems to have made him a diplomat. Hockey and the pursuit of rare items for his record collection occupy his leisure hours. A man of high ambitions, he intends to continue the study of languages at Notre Dame.

RIENDEAU, EUGENE CHARLES—Assumption Grotto—Quiet, but with a ready pleasantness for all, Gene is one of the best of the Class of '47. His interests are confined to his friends to whom he is generous with his time. The field of television with its unending opportunities magnetizes him for the immediate future. The Riendeau willingness indicate that smooth paths lie ahead for Gene.

ROBB, JAMES ERNEST—St. Agnes—One of the few possessors of red hair at C. C., Jim is known to all as agreeable and affable. He has shown his loyalty to Central by his enthusiasm for any and all Shamrock activities. His ability to talk smoothly and well should be a decided asset as he follows in the footsteps of his father in the furniture business.

ROBERGE, JEROME THOMAS—St. Cecilia—As the best read and most natural conversationalist of the Senior class, Jerry conveys an immediate impression of inherent intelligence. His scholastic awards and "Magna Cum Laude" average provide evidence of his ability, while prominence in the Physics Club and contributions to the Shamrock characterize his after school achievements. It will be "Dr. Roberge" to his friends and patients after a few years.

ROHLMAN, BERTRAM JAMES—Assumption Grotto—"Dual-sided Bert" presents an interesting character—he is a walking example of the principal's theme, "First things first." Bert's serious side is in full view in the classroom, but the two o'clock dismissal bell is signal for the release of his ready wit that has won him a welcome place in the hearts of the students at Belmont High.

RONAN, ARTHUR PHILIP—St. John the Evangelist—Through his athletic versatility, Art has vaulted to the heights of achievement in football, basketball and baseball, winning Varsity letters in all three. His inspired brand of touchdown passes will be admired in athletic circles for a long time to come. Art is almost equally well-known for his easy-going manner, which, together with his understanding of true sportsmanship, will be an invaluable asset as he faces a future career in forestry.

RUDDON, LAWRENCE JOSEPH—St. Gabriel—Larry established himself as the fun-loving type not long after his arrival. His amusing antics furnished the occasion for many an uproar during the years he has been with us. No one with whom he comes in contact failed to like him and accept him as a welcome companion. His generosity is legendary.

RUMPS, PAUL PETER—St. Hyacinth—Paul's natural inquisitiveness has caused him to continually seek after knowledge and delve into the "why and wherefore" of science; he has acquired a special liking for chemical research, which he hopes to pursue at the University of Michigan. For relaxation, Paul displays the ability of a craftsman as his keen blade works away at a block of soft wood.

Seniors

RUNCIE, JOHN WILLIAM—St. Benedict—John seems to have made a success of his four years at Central. His winning personality has made him a favorite among his classmates. After graduation from Central John plans to put his intellectual ability to further use in the study of engineering at the University of Detroit.

RYAN, DONALD MARTIN—St. Mary Magdalen—A refreshing personality is mirrored in Don's friendly smile. He is a devotee of athletics, and has proved an apt, active factor in reserve football and intramural basketball. An honor student, he voices a preference for science; and with a college education in mind, he will direct his future attention towards engineering.

SADOWSKI, VINCENT BONIFACE—Our Lady of Good Counsel—Never perturbed, always chipper, and always quick to defend the past and present glories of the Polish people, Vince has been a faithful member of the Spectrum staff, latterly combining the duties of typist and reporter; as a Freshman, he belonged to the Camera Club. One of the few who like Latin, he may have occasion to use it as a physician.

SADLOWSKI, GERALD VINCENT—Queen of Apostles—Dapper, well-tailored "Sad" proudly proclaims himself a citizen of Hamtramck. Besides patriotism to his native city, Gerry's hobbies include swimming, collecting records and photography. This latter activity has led him into an active membership in the Camera Club. Although not fully decided, he will probably utilize his love of physics in the field of Civil Engineering.

SCHEID, RICHARD JOHN—St. Mary's, Royal Oak—The most amazing thing about Dick is the extent of his interests; he engages in several hobbies, plays almost every sport under the sun, and manages to succeed scholastically besides. His talent for telling fish stories has gained him considerable note; in fact, it almost matches his ability for catching fish. Of his many pursuits, photography is his vocational choice.

SCHUMACHER, CLIFFORD RODNEY—St. Theresa—During the time we have known him, Rod has proved himself an individualist, but not to such an extent as to exclude activity in the gregarious pastimes of intramural football and basketball, or being an active member of the Physics Club and a contributor to the Spectrum. He possesses one of the highest averages in the graduating class. He is enrolled at Wayne University for pre-Med.

SCHUSTER, WILLIAM JOSEPH—Assumption of B.V.M.—A successful student, an ambitious athlete, no field of school activity has escaped Bill's glowing personality. His cheerful smile reflects the spirit which has won for him innumerable friends, who, in turn, have gained a loyal and understanding companion. Bill is, as yet, undecided about his future.

SEASER, GERALD JOSEPH—St. Margaret Mary—"A self-confident lad with a flair for social activities" pretty well describes "Salty." As his nickname would indicate, he is an enthusiastic outdoor man, indulging in hunting, fishing and the remunerative sport of repairing cars. Although he is undecided about future employment, his faculty for Algebra will no doubt be of aid.

SEITZ, HARRY JEROME—Visitation—Popular and always willing to make friends, Jerry has the rare ability of spinning an entertaining yarn. His make-up is marked with congeniality and robust personality. He is athletic in so far as hunting, swimming and hockey are concerned and is tempted by a future business of his own.

SENSOTERRA, JOHN DAVID—Assumption Grotto—Friendly yet earnest, cheerful yet reticent, John has managed to produce a four-year unblemished record at C.C. Always ready to lend a hand to aid in all projects has made him one to be counted on. His sport trend leans toward bowling. He plans a good try at telephonics in the near future.

SHEA, WILLIAM ALBERT—Blessed Sacrament—Football, basketball and baseball, all occupy a prominent place in the interests of Bill, one of the school's best known personalities. But sandwiched between these interests, Bill has acquired an enviable scholastic record. Perhaps his love of physics explains his desire to spend the rest of his life as a Civil Engineer.

SHEFFERLY, DONALD CHARLES—St. Matthew—Sheff and his smile are an inseparable pair of familiar sights in and out of class. Baseball was his pastime here at Central, but he otherwise aided every other endeavor. His book learning will direct him toward the field of government custom work this side of the border.

SHOPSHEAR, RICHARD ELLIS—St. Patrick—Not sluggish, but not frantic either, Dick keeps the even tenor of his ways with a minimum of fuss and agitation. One of his interests is collecting pictures of different places; another is dancing; yet another, attendance at football and basketball games. His vocational ambition is slightly unusual—he wants to own his own chain of grocery stores.

SIENKIEWICZ, REGINALD PAUL—Holy Name—A hard worker at the books and a steady infielder on the ball diamond, Reg has contributed to all events at Central. Then, too, his fun-loving and pleasant personality occasioned equally favorable results in numerous social events. His out-of-school activities include intramural basketball, four years in the band, and a study of the latest in clothes and popular music. He will continue his education at U. of D.

SIMLER, PETER EDWARD—St. James, Ferndale—After sixteen months in the Navy, Pete came back to Central for his diploma. He welcomes the coming of Winter because of the sport it offers. The indoor sport of repartee also appeals to his competitive spirit. After graduation his further education will be along engineering lines.

SINKUS, BRUNO JOSEPH—St. George—Gifted with an awe-inspiring physique and athletic aptitude to go along with it, Bruno was the key man on the Catholic Central line in 1945, as well as a star on the intramural basketball court; he successfully wrung blood from tight-fisted turnips as a mission representative. His highest achievement, a testimony of his classmates' regard, was his election as Secretary of the Senior Class.

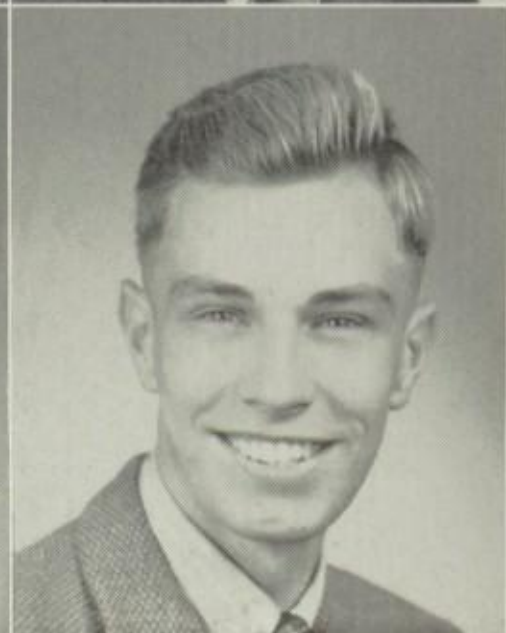

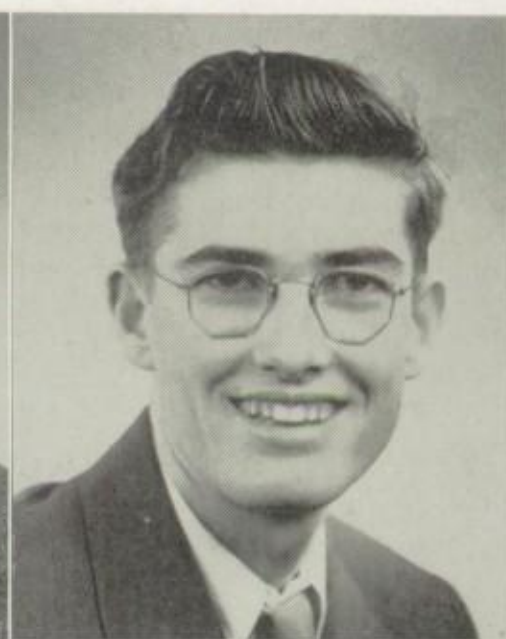

Seniors

STANCZAK, RONALD STANLEY—St. Hyacinth—Sincerity, friendliness, joviality, activeness, are the words out of which a word-picture could be written about Ron. His liking for riding classifies him as an outdoors man. Also musically inclined, "Stan" plays both the accordin and piano. In the studious vein, Math is his strong point and the Physics Club numbered him among its honor students. The business world will be bettered when Ron enters it.

STARLING, ROBERT ROGERS—St. James, Ferndale—"Anything that's fun" is the formula by which Bob selects leisure time activities; however, this pursuit of happiness has not hampered his scholastic efforts; and his desire to become an engineer has led him to join the Physics Club. An amiable personality, an adeptness in trig., and a signal ability to enjoy a joke, are assets which everyone envies, but which Bob actually possesses.

STEIGER, ROBERT—St. Martin—Tall and well-knit, obliging and companionable, Bob has made himself well known during his stay with us. In school he has played intramural basketball; and outside school he swims, dances and plays football. Spanish is his favorite curricular activity. Being molar-conscious, he intends to devote his life to them as a dentist.

STRUTINSKI, LEONARD CHARLES—St. Juliana—Tall, blond "Strut" has been a member of the Honor Roll for four years and boasts of his fondness for Math and the sciences. In after-school hours he could be found in the solitude of the Library, typing for Fr. Sheehy and Company. For relaxation strut likes dancing and swimming. All these abilities should help him enrich the field of Chemical Engineering.

SZURA, DANIEL THOMAS—Assumption B.V.M.—Danny's versatility has extended to everything from high scholastic achievement to a diligence in athletics. He has proved conclusively that a yen for learning is not incompatible with a penchant and a degree of finesse on the ball diamond, where he has zealously played for the past three years. Danny possesses an ingenious wit and the polish of a gentleman—none of his chums will deny this. As a familiar figure in the Physics and Gabriel Richard Clubs, he has evidenced the fruits of his keen intellect.

TERRIEN, JAMES MILTON—Blessed Sacrament—Milt's great interests in life are his camera, his boat and its outboard motor. He is never happier, outside the classroom, than when he is busy caulking his craft or removing a piston rod from the crank-case of the motor. Always a patient and careful worker, Milt has turned out an enviable scholastic record despite many illnesses and distractions.

THOMPSON, THOMAS GORDON—Epiphany—Gordon's appreciation of the fine arts and study of the ancients has made him quite prominent in cultural circles. By no means have these extra activities diverted G's efforts from school work. The Camera Club, the Don Bosco Club and the stage crew all recognize his familiar face. Here's hoping the future brings him success in the archeological past.

THORESEN, JOHN PAUL—Precious Blood—During the past few years tall, dapper and agreeable John has become one of Detroit's brighter social lights. In the arena of sports, he has played reserve football for two years, and, outside of school, he enjoys golf and bowling, but takes his greatest pleasure from a skillful fingering of the piano keyboard. However, he is as much at home with the nominative case as with the walking bass, and he hopes to pursue the study of Spanish into higher education.

TIGHE, DONALD CHARLES—Assumption Grotto—Another of Central's gridiron notables is Don Tighe. He played varsity football in '44 and '46, with an interval between spent in Uncle Sam's Navy, beginning during the latter part of his junior year. He returned just in time to bolster the 1946 team. His sporting interests also extend to the bowling alley, where he rolls a consistently high game.

TIMLIN, GREGORY THOMAS—St. Brigid—"Greg" has been blessed with the most rare of gifts, that of being a tremendous wag and joker without ever having hurt anyone or made an enemy. The more serious side of his nature shows him to be a sincere musician and, because of his arduous labors, a student of better than average calibre.

TYLL, RAYMOND BERNARD—Holy Name—A quiet person is Ray, but beneath this silence there is much to be listed about him. He busies himself about many individual interesting hobbies—an oil painting collection and rare stamp publications being two of his boasts. His amiability and his freedom from fear of work should advance him along the lines of construction engineering, his chosen future field.

UREEL, FRANK MICHAEL—Holy Name, Birmingham—Earnest and serious minded, Mike devotes much study and exertion to scientific pursuits, notably Chemistry and Radio. Being also a lover of music, he lent his vocal chords to the Glee Club for a considerable time. His interest in science precluded any other career but that of an engineer, and research has led him to single out its electronic phase.

VANDERMARLIERE, RICHARD EMILE—St. Margaret Mary—Van's ambition to become a chemical engineer is ever present in his mind; his past years of education and natural attraction to the functions of chemistry places him well on the way to success in this scientific field. As for hobbies, Van is a faithful member of the Camera Club. His quiet and congenial attitude will be of great value in future years.

WAECHLI, JOHN RICHARD—St. Thomas, Apostle—Care-free and happy-go-lucky, John has one of the outstanding personalities at Central. His sparkling wit and good nature has obtained him a host of admirers. His interest in diamond activities has led him into sandlot circles. John is a class morale-builder and is a welcome refresher between periods. His work in the field of optometry promises to be an interesting one.

WALSH, JAMES ANTHONY—Blessed Sacrament—No mean hand at the books, he has also excelled in athletics, as is evidenced by his play in Varsity football and basketball. Jim seems to have that extra "something" that has helped to make Central's sports machine move in a manner unsurpassed by other prep high schools. Stamped by success in school, he is a fellow to watch in the future.

WALSH, PATRICK JOSEPH—Blessed Sacrament—Having served in the U. S. Marine Corps, Pat returned to C.C. to complete his education. A proud possessor of three letters gained on the hardwood court and two years spent on the Boxing Team, he certainly reveals all the qualities of a natural athlete. After graduation Pat plans to enter a business man's world through a course in Business Administration at U. of D.

Seniors

WEBER, GEORGE WILLIAM—St. Agnes—A talented bandsman with four years of experience to his credit, George has developed a "mellow" trombone. During his Senior year he did his bit to make the Physics Club a success. George plans to make a complete study of matters financial at college before starting out on his own in the retail furniture business.

WEBSTER, WILLIAM PATRICK—Precious Blood—Bill, with his friendly disposition, was immediately welcomed by his classmates when he entered here as a Freshman; that popularity has continued through the remainder of his stay at C.C. He is an eager participant both from the grandstand and in person, in practically all athletic activities. His preference for chemistry inclines him towards a career in pharmacy.

WENSON, FREDERICK JOHN—Blessed Sacrament—Studies, social and physical activities have combined to take up Fritz's time. His fiery trumpet is the center of popularity at parties and dances; his boxing acumen a source of worry and respect to his rivals in the ring. With musical and fistic abilities to choose from, Fritz seems to favor the trumpet for the future.

WESLEY, THOMAS FRANCIS—Our Lady, Queen of Heaven—Although he likes all sports and engages in them zealously, Tom never quite made the Varsity, though he has been a member of the football reserves for two years. Endowed with many of the social graces, he has made himself well-known in local circles. His aptitude for Chemistry eminently fits him for a vocation in that field.

WIESEN, JOSEPH ALLAN—St. Luke—Joe is a lively, vivacious lad with a great love of social activities. His sartorial splendor is famous; his zoot-suits are the ultimate in sharpness; his unfailing sense of humor has pepped up many a lagging class. There are few in the school whom he can't count among his friends. Long after other classmates have been forgotten, Joe will be remembered.

WOLBER, JAMES EDWARD—Gesu—In the past four years Jim's interests have leaned most towards the realm of science. He is one of the most enthusiastic members of the Camera Club, and has also been prominent in the Physics Club. Hobbies of model building, electricity, and chemistry show Jim's aptitude for engineering which is coupled with a warm sense of humor that will come in handy at the University of Detroit.

WOLF, PAUL JOSEPH—Visitation—Paul received a "discharge" from the band in his Junior year to play hockey, making the band's loss the hockey team's gain. Showing his usual good judgment, he enjoys and is a connoisseur of good jazz. His social activity is most wide. Interest in mathematics will probably lead him into accounting.

WOLFF, JOSEPH MICHAEL—St. Mary—A newcomer to C.C.H. this year, Joe has already become a popular figure among his fellow students. Perhaps Joe's biggest job and one which he has performed faithfully is that of lay-out editor of the Spectrum. In addition to this he has fitted into one of Fr. Clemens' stage productions, and tried his hand in basketball. In short, Joe is the kind of fellow who is active—active in social life, active scholastically, and active in every field of extra-curricular activity.

Seniors

WOODLEY, BERNARD JOSEPH—Christ the King—From the exotic land of Farmington comes Bernie, the man with the wooly hair and intense love of argument. His first love is science, his second, roller skating. In keeping with his rural background, he also enjoys square dancing. An assiduous student and member of the St. Basil's Club, he will labor in the recondite realm of electronics research after leaving us.

WROBLEWSKI, CHARLES ANTHONY—St. Hyacinth—"Chops," perhaps the school's most versatile athlete, was captain and spark plug of the Shamrock football eleven. Shifty, and noted for consistent yardage gained in long runs, he was mentioned for the Hearst All-American High School Team. Excelling in baseball as well, he was picked for the American Legion's All-Star team last year. His spirit of sportsmanship will help him in his chosen career as a football coach.

YEAGER, RICHARD EDWARD—Epiphany—Tall and well-built, and of considerable athletic prowess, Dick's ambitions point to a career as an instructor in Physical Education. He came up to the Varsity football squad in '46, by way of the Reserves; during the Winter months Dick delighted in stick-handling through the defensemen of an opposing hockey team.

ZETTEL, ROBERT BERNARD—St. Gregory—Bob's winsome smile, casual wit, and keen intellectual ability have assured his popularity both in and out of the classroom. A member of the Gabriel Richard Club, he has proved himself adept in all subjects on the curriculum; his mathematical talent will probably figure prominently in his future. Bob spends his leisure hours participating in some sporting event, preferably either golf or hockey.

MOST REVEREND ALLEN J. BABCOCK

Thomas Brennan. Chosen by popular vote from among those whose scholastic averages qualified them, they both expressed, in their brief words, the sentiments felt less articulately by the rest of the graduating class. The morning exercises were graced by the presence of The Very Reverend E. J. McCorkle, C.S.B., Superior General of the Basilian Order.

The graduates were honored to have as guest speaker of the evening the Most Reverend Allen J. Babcock, Auxiliary Bishop of Detroit, a benefactor of Catholic Central since he became pastor of Blessed Sacrament Cathedral in 1942.

Commencement Speakers

"Speech, finely framed, delights the ears."

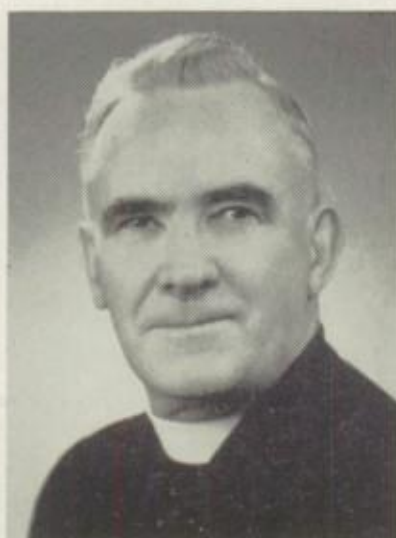

Traditionally a part of the graduation exercises have been the Valedictory, Salutatory, and Baccalaureate addresses; they are, after all, the final discourses of an academic career. This year's Salutatorian was Lawrence Elmer, the Valedictorian

The Shamrock

One of the most significant times of anyone's life is that of transition from childhood to maturity—the years of high school. For those who spent these years at Catholic Central, we have tried to make the Shamrock a clear portrayal of their work, fun, loyalties, and experiences. Our success can only be measured in how well we have preserved the memories of these last ten months.

This year, we have attempted a slightly new format, and in various ways have tried to improve and expand your Annual. The guidance of Fr. Koehler and the labors of the entire staff have made possible whatever triumphs we have gained; and a great deal of praise must certainly go to those throughout the school who co-operated in obtaining advertising. We sincerely hope that these happy months may be kept unfaded by our efforts.

The Spectrum

J. Gerak, Sports Editor; J. Wolff, Layout Editor; Fr. L. Purcell, C.S.B.; W. Dresden

The spectrum of science is a multicolored pattern that reflects the composition of the entire universe; our Spectrum is similar, except that the colors are the varied aspects of school life. Few events are more eagerly awaited than the Spectrum's bi-monthly arrival; few periodicals surpass the Spectrum's popularity, at least among Catholic Central's over eight hundred students.

A Spectrum more vigorous and interesting than any seen before was achieved this year, in large part due to the efforts of Editor Tom Brennan, his assistants Joe Gerak and Joe Wolf, and faculty adviser Fr. Purcell. Several new columns blossomed forth, and wider coverage was accorded to every phase of school activity. Aspiring journalists had an opportunity to see their names and works in print; invaluable experience was gained by all those associated with the paper. Although this year's attainments were signal and laudable, next year's will inevitably be greater; the image must grow as the object itself expands.

Physics Club

In our modern "gadgetonic world" of atom bombs, television, radar, and rocket power, the creative minds of the scientific are surging to new discoveries, stretching to new horizons. The infinite capacity for development in this scientific era has made the need for a more extensive education so essential that without it the mind of the average man is considerably handicapped by the intricacies of our ultra-modern inventions.

The purpose of the Physics Club, since its inception several years ago, has been to furnish a portion of this necessary knowledge and to keep its members abreast with our ever progressing age. Under the ingenious hand of Fr. McMahon and president Jerry Nymberg, experiments were performed, lectures were given, and the Club met with the fullest measure of success.

Front: J. Cutcher, F. Lacey.

Chemistry Club

The latest Club to be added to the ever-increasing list of extra-curricular activities here at Catholic Central is the Chem Club. The over-crowded conditions in the junior classrooms was one big factor in bringing about this organization. Because of the size of the laboratory and the number of interested prospects for the Club, Father Nolan found it necessary to invite representatives from each room to form the bulk of the group. These 'savants' pass on in informal talks to their classmates the scientific and experimental knowledge which they are able to glean from their hours whiled away in the lab-room after-hours. For the most part, those who participate actively and continually are candidates for the same type of work in college or university, and their efforts in the experimental field is proving to be an invaluable aid to their work, both present and prospective. Whether the future will see other Mendeljeffs or Avogadros or not, the Club is achieving its end in helping to dispel the strangeness which "laboratory" implies, and to dissipate the aura of mystery which ever lurks in the test tube.

Award Winners

R. Schumacher, J. Madigan, J. Roberge
Absent—R. Goodwillie

The annual Pepsi Cola Scholarship Contest found three berths occupied by Central's participants: James Madigan, Jerome Roberge, and Rodney Schumacher, each receiving the honor as runners up in this nation-wide contest. As the result of a State examination, the University of Michigan presented Richard Goodwillie with a four-year scholarship in the school of engineering.

Along literary lines, Paul Kelley and Edward Shea obtained the distinction of winning the Regional Scholastic Contest; Edward Emkjer received honorable mention in the National Scholastic Contest, while Robert Lee walked off with high laurels in the Adcraft Essay Contest.

These are but a few of the products of a truly profitable year.

"Teach me goodness, discipline, and knowledge."

Realizing the paramount importance of things spiritual, the students have placed academic endeavors second only to their religious obligations.

In the pursuit of knowledge, Catholic Central's proteges have diligently applied themselves and brought considerable recognition to both themselves and their school. Although Central is best known to the public as a powerhouse in athletics, still past records attest that scholastically she has attained an even greater and fuller measure of success. This year perhaps has been the most momentous yet. Aside from the numerous honor ratings within the school, several students have reached out and captured State and National awards.

Spiritual

The Retreat

As the holy season of Easter approaches, many Catholics begin to realize their own unworthiness, and to feel the need for self-purification; it is at this time that we hold our annual retreat, a culmination of Lent's spiritual progress. The first three days of Holy Week were given over to this purpose. An unwonted silence filled the classrooms, and the usual schedule was changed to accommodate the Mass, Benediction, conferences, and recollection periods that were the daily routine. Although it was not possible this year to distribute communion at Mass, retreatants were advised to receive in their parish churches. All were urged to go to confession, and every possible chance was afforded; confessions were heard continuously in every available space; spiritual reading was encouraged, and religious literature was always accessible.

The retreat this year was conducted by Fr. Dorsey, C.S.B. He is quite familiar to Catholic Central, having taught here some years ago. This familiarity was evident as he spoke, making his words more personal to us, and by its local allusions brightening already absorbing conferences. He spoke simply, quietly and effectively, making his points clear with a bright anecdote or simile. His few brief words exerted a power far beyond their ordinary due, and those hours spent in the conferences were for some the most important of their lives.

Physical conditions during the retreat were not ideal; but cramped quarters, stuffiness, and hard wood floor provided merely extra opportunity for penance. At its end, the minor discomforts of the previous three days were forgotten in the satisfaction of a job well done, and of souls set at peace with God.

Religious Bulletin

R. Hissong, J. Hofstetter and T. Barden assist Fr. Cullen in mailing out the Bulletins.

Attempting to give the students here at the school the "straight from the shoulder" Catholicism found in the Notre Dame Religious Bulletin, the "Bulletin Board" was inaugurated a few years back by Father Sheehy. Many are the graces given by God through this mimeographed copy each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Great, too, is the work undertaken by Father Cullen, the present editor, in putting in print this means that God uses to extend grace. Found in the "Bulletin Board" are practical tips in strong, virile language, in the attempt to encourage the practice of virtue and correct any faults seen close at hand by the faculty. It is our hope that the mimeograph machine will not break down for many years to come while its product helps in its own way to save souls for God.

Mr. Hogan distributes the Bulletins to students Benavides, Doherty and Cook.

Don Bosco Club

Brother Eymard Salzman, C.S.C., chats informally with some of the members.

One of the gravest problems confronting the Catholic world is the need of supplying men to carry on Christ's priestly work. Realizing that God's grace often falls short in crying to the deaf ears of some of His chosen ones, the Don Bosco Club, a national organization, was formed, largely through the efforts of Father Cullen, who became its first Moderator at Catholic Central. The purpose of the Club is twofold: first, that its members fulfill God's holy will in the matter of vocations and second, that they know and love their Master more intimately. The means promulgated for obtaining these goals are frequent Communion, and talks by various priests to assist anyone who wishes to attend the meetings, in choosing the priesthood and the type of priestly work for which they are best suited.

The Club is addressed by Fr. Orsini, C.S.B., during one of the regular monthly meetings.

The Missions

"And He said to them: 'Go ye into the whole world and preach the Gospel to every creature'."

Although we who remain at home cannot usually fulfill this injunction personally, we can, and must, assist in its fulfillment. Prayer, although important, is not enough, alone; those who reap God's harvest must be supported by material contributions too. Realizing their obligation of charity, the students of Catholic Central have given with open hands to this noblest cause.

During the past year we have presented the amount of $2,695 to the missions, both at home and in foreign lands. The box score by classes for the year finds 11-1 well ahead with $372; 12-1 gave freely also, donating $315; and 12-2 rivaled both of these with $273. The other classes acquitted themselves almost equally well. Notice must also be taken of the part Fr. Nolan and his representatives played in this year's mission work.

The little sacrifices by which our contributions were amassed were no less difficult because of their smallness. Their result signifies a true understanding of the necessity and meaning of Charity.

Social

SENIOR

Anticipating an evening of gay frolic, several couples make their grand entrance.

Pleasure and delight rose to their zenith, gaiety and light-heartedness mingled and light-heartedness mingled among the guests. All were fascinated by the joy that reigned unchecked on that night of all nights —The Senior Prom.

Rapturous melodies aroused the hearts of all as the couples glided across the floor, completely oblivious of the world in their midst. The soothing music blended in with the colorful array to effect perfect harmony.

Overshadowing this evening of rare happiness was the knowledge that soon the music would stop, friends would regretfully shake hands — hand that perhaps would never reunite.

Memories of this festive occasion will linger forever, continually reflecting the joy and sorrow. Joy for having participated in all the ecstasy of the ideal night and sorrow because of the inevitable parting of friends.

Under the soft lights of the Senior Prom the couples dreamily dance to the smooth music of Rudy Ford.

The Crystal Ballroom speckled with the array of colorful formals provide a spectacle of great beauty.

The music has stopped and lights are dimmed as the couples wend their way from the ballroom . . .
The end of a perfect evening.

Mothers' Club

Now completing its seventh year, the Mothers' Club of Catholic Central can look back on a season of wide and successful activity. Under the capable direction of President Mrs. F. S. Porretta, the Club conducted its usual monthly meetings and held its annual Easter Monday party; the parents of the freshmen were entertained at the October meeting; a special gift shower for the Basilians was given at the December meeting; and the year closed with the May meeting, when the Senior parents were guests, and at which the General Motors Company demonstrated its latest research developments. Outstanding speakers at the various meetings included Judge Moynahan and Mr. Walter Romig. Perhaps the largest project of the year was the Mothers' Club Raffle, which raised a substantial amount for the building fund.

Certainly this organization, which acts as a link between the two great educational units, home and school, merits the applause and gratitude of all Central's sons.

Monogram Club

The white monogram, proof of athletic accomplishment, is worn proudly by numerous Centralites; the elite of that group were banded some two years ago into an organization known as the Monogram Club, composed of Varsity letter winners in the three major sports. The Club's function is to regulate the distribution and wearing of letters. The most notable achievement this year was a change in the awards to Senior athletes; instead of the usual letter a small gold pin, bearing a double "C", was given. Don Tighe was chosen president; Pat Harrison, vice president; Charlie Wroblewski, treasurer, and Joe Gerak, secretary. Although its work this year was not spectacular, neither was the purpose for which it was founded. It has done well a task that must be done.

After a prolonged lapse during the war years, the Alumni Association came back to life in September, 1946. There was hilarity and general sociability at this first meeting but time was found to elect the following officers: President, Bob Lipski, '36; Vice-President, Bill Bent, '39; Secretaries, Gordon Keating, '44, and Bill Foley, '42. The season's outstanding activity was the St. Valentine's Dance, at which the sprinkling of grey and shiny domes testified to its class-inclusiveness. Under Fr. Nolan's guidance much progress in organization was accomplished, and the future holds great promise for this Association "with a past."

"Rifles Aren't"

"Forty-five minutes till curtain time—costumes, makeup, everyone." . . . Scurry and hurry, then five-minute call.

. . . "On stage everybody." . . . Opening prayer for a sure hit. . . . "Houselights off, spots, borders, olivets on—overture—places everybody—curtain, take it up." And here pictured are the reasons behind that curtain and the most recent addition to Central's growing column of smash hits.

Critics' tabulated vote rate "Rifles" tops in every dramatic department. The recipe for the success: Take the chanting of Johnny Jordon and Frank Porretta, sprinkle the music of Bill Dresden uniformly throughout, add the antics of Tom Brennan, mixed with the charm of Derv Flowers and Owen Lee—set amid the "Gala" settings—all cleverly served by Father Clemens—satisfied six thousand customers.

There are always just as many reasons behind scenes as there are out front for the productions of which Central is justly proud. This picture parade of backstage producers is their only curtain call.

Literally speaking, months were spent by these unseen indispensables in building the production. The arts of carpentry and design, of coloring and lighting, are all integral parts of the supporting background of Central's panoramas, and presented here are the artists of these individual fields.

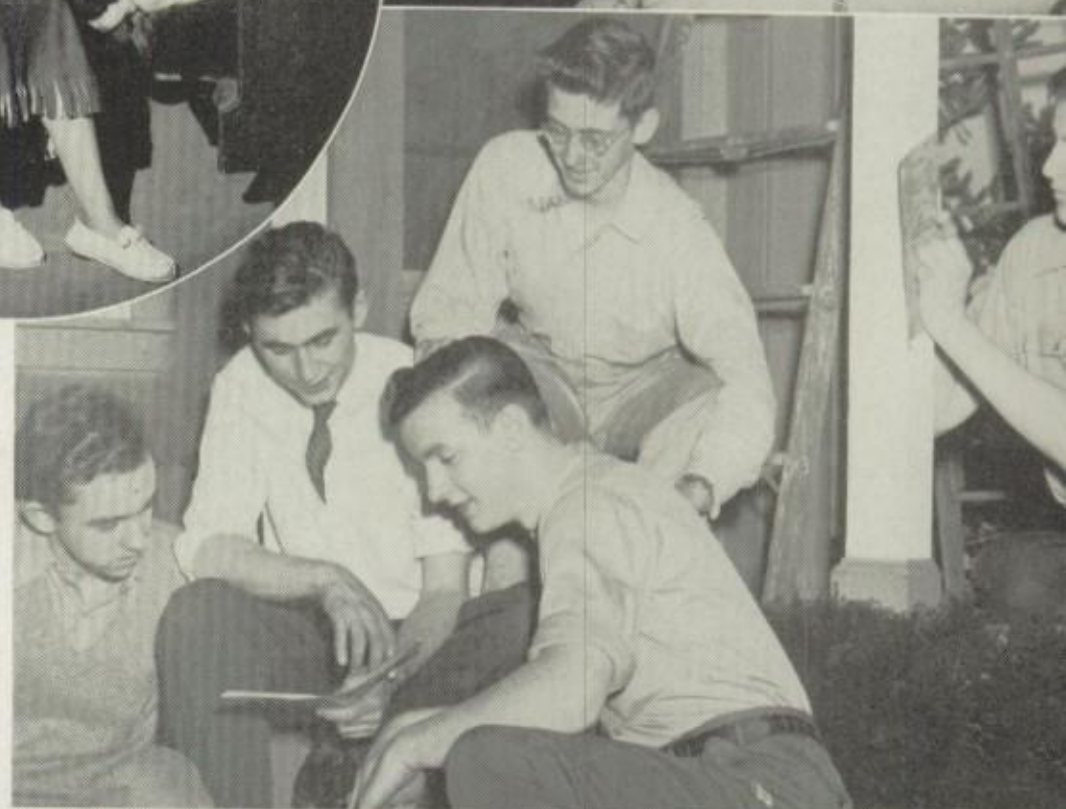

To their untiring zeal in providing such scenic displays of so proximate a professional calibre "The Shamrock" pays a congratulatory award and bids them take a well earned bow in our pages for a grand job well done.

Student Council

A train would steam aimlessly over the ground were it not for two narrow ribbons of track; so also would it be futile for any organization to attempt an existence without an administrative body to pilot its undertakings.

The Student Council together with the Faculty has served as this potent guiding force and necessary medium between "educator and educatee." Headed by Fr. Sheehy and the Senior Officers, representatives from each classroom were elected and a new and mightier Student Council began to function. During the course of the year greater harmony and co-operation was attained by this unifying link which made it its duty to keep the ball of education rolling smoothly at C.C.

The Band

The throb and blare of martial music has become closely bound up with the idea of football; so, not content with excelling on the gridiron itself, Catholic Central has put forth one of the finest marching bands in the state. The rise of this group has been phenomenal. Not a year has passed since its inception that has not seen an upward spurt in its membership and quality.

In addition to its football performances, the band gave several concerts, and played at a number of extramural events. A smaller band, composed of the more experienced members, was assembled especially to handle social engagements.

The intricate and precise formations, the training, discipline, and skill patent at its every appearance, can in large part be credited to the leadership of the director, Mr. Ryan, and faculty moderator Fr. Regan. With such advantages, and with such a record behind it, we see no barriers or boundaries to the greatness of this already great organization.

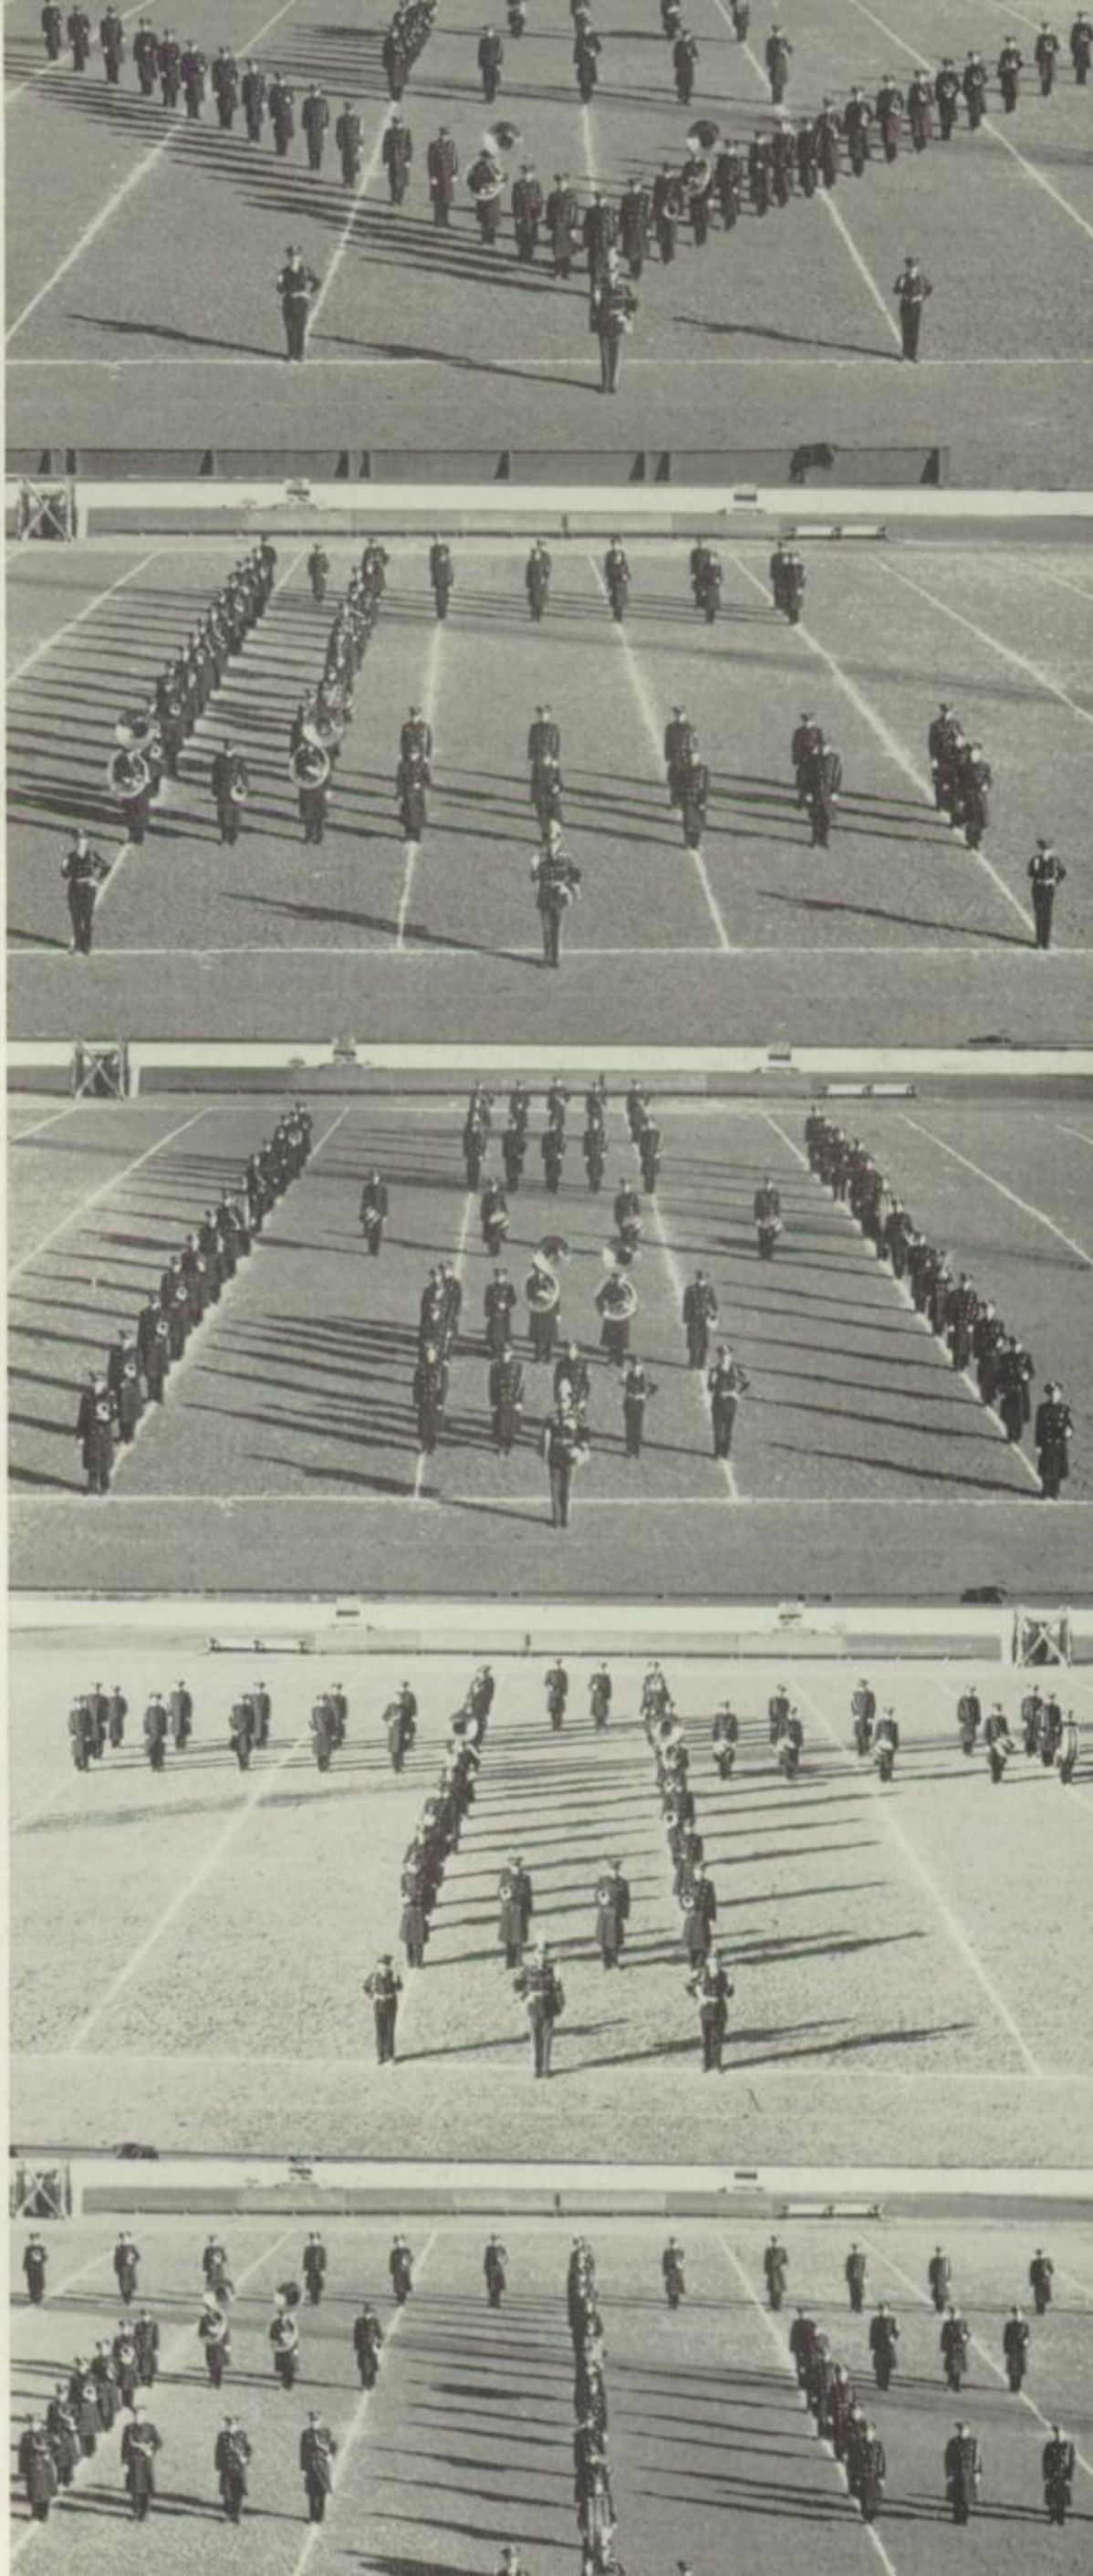

The Orchestra boys swing into practice for Fr. Clemen's coming dramatical show.

Marching Band

Catholic Central marching band has a reputation for the originality and skill of its formations. These pictures readily illustrate that the hours of after school drill have well proven their worth and effectiveness.

Fr. Regan, Director Frank Ryan, and Manager J. Babcock are discussing plans for future Band activity.

Camera Club

Visualization synchronized with action—"click"—and there on a sensitive film you have the product of photography, a graphic realistic representation of some phase of creation. Within the opaque confines of a camera a film is made to recreate the past, suspend the sands of time, and reflect a fleeting vision.

With this their intent the Camera Club launched upon what proved to be its most colorful season since its inception. CC's most recent camera enthusiast, Fr. Pacher, has proficiently taken over the Club and spurred it to new prominence in the realms of portraiture. During the course of the year contests were entered, awards were won and the members received greater recognition. The finer arts of photography have well manifested themselves in the Club's eager "shutter bugs."

A steadily mounting interest paired with an earnest desire to portray reality gives every indication of a future crowned with success.

Varsity Football

The Varsity Football squad, playing an independent schedule against a number of foes highly regarded both locally and nationally, turned in the school's first undefeated season since the champions of 1942 accomplished that enviable feat.

The Shamrocks met their arch-rivals, the Cosmos of Hamtramck, in the first game of an eventful season. This contest marked the tenth game between these schools in nine years, and for the tenth time, the Cosmos' hopes for victory were stifled, for the Art Ronan to Frank Esslin pass combination clicked for two touchdowns, and the Shamrocks left the field victors by a score of fourteen to nothing.

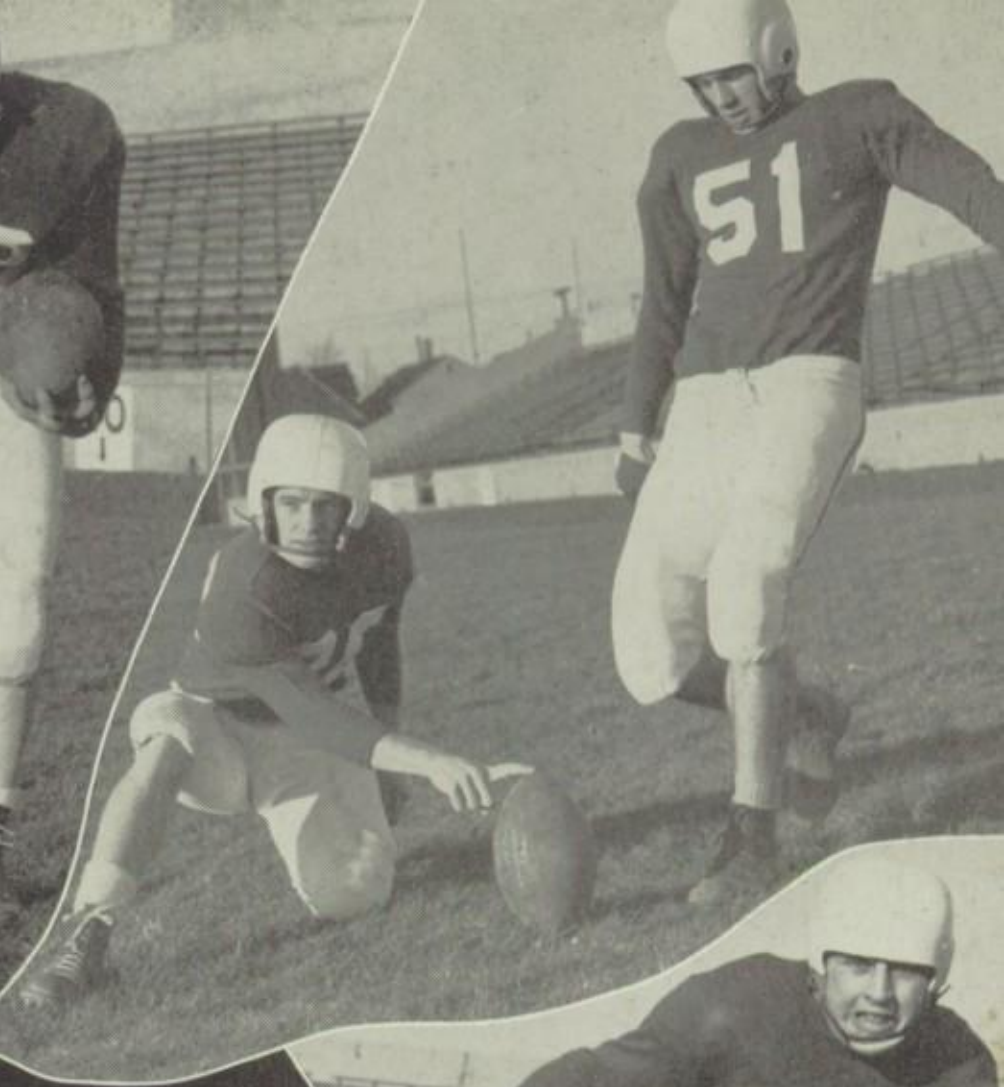

Under a flaming Autumn sun, shirt sleeved spectators at U. of D. Stadium watched the Shamrock backfield power and line strength conquer a fast but light Buffalo Canisius team by the score of thirty-nine to six.

Highland Park High School, having decided that they were not cut out for city-league competition, joined Catholic Central this year in the rank of schools unable to compete for the title of "city champions." In the first meeting between these two squads, the Shamrocks rang up a twenty-five to seven victory.

The Fordson Tractors battled the Belmont Avenue boys to a 6-6 stalemate throughout the first half, but once again a fast charging line and hard running backs wore down the opposition, and the eighteen to six Shamrock victory evened the four years' competition with Fordson at two wins each.

Varsity Football

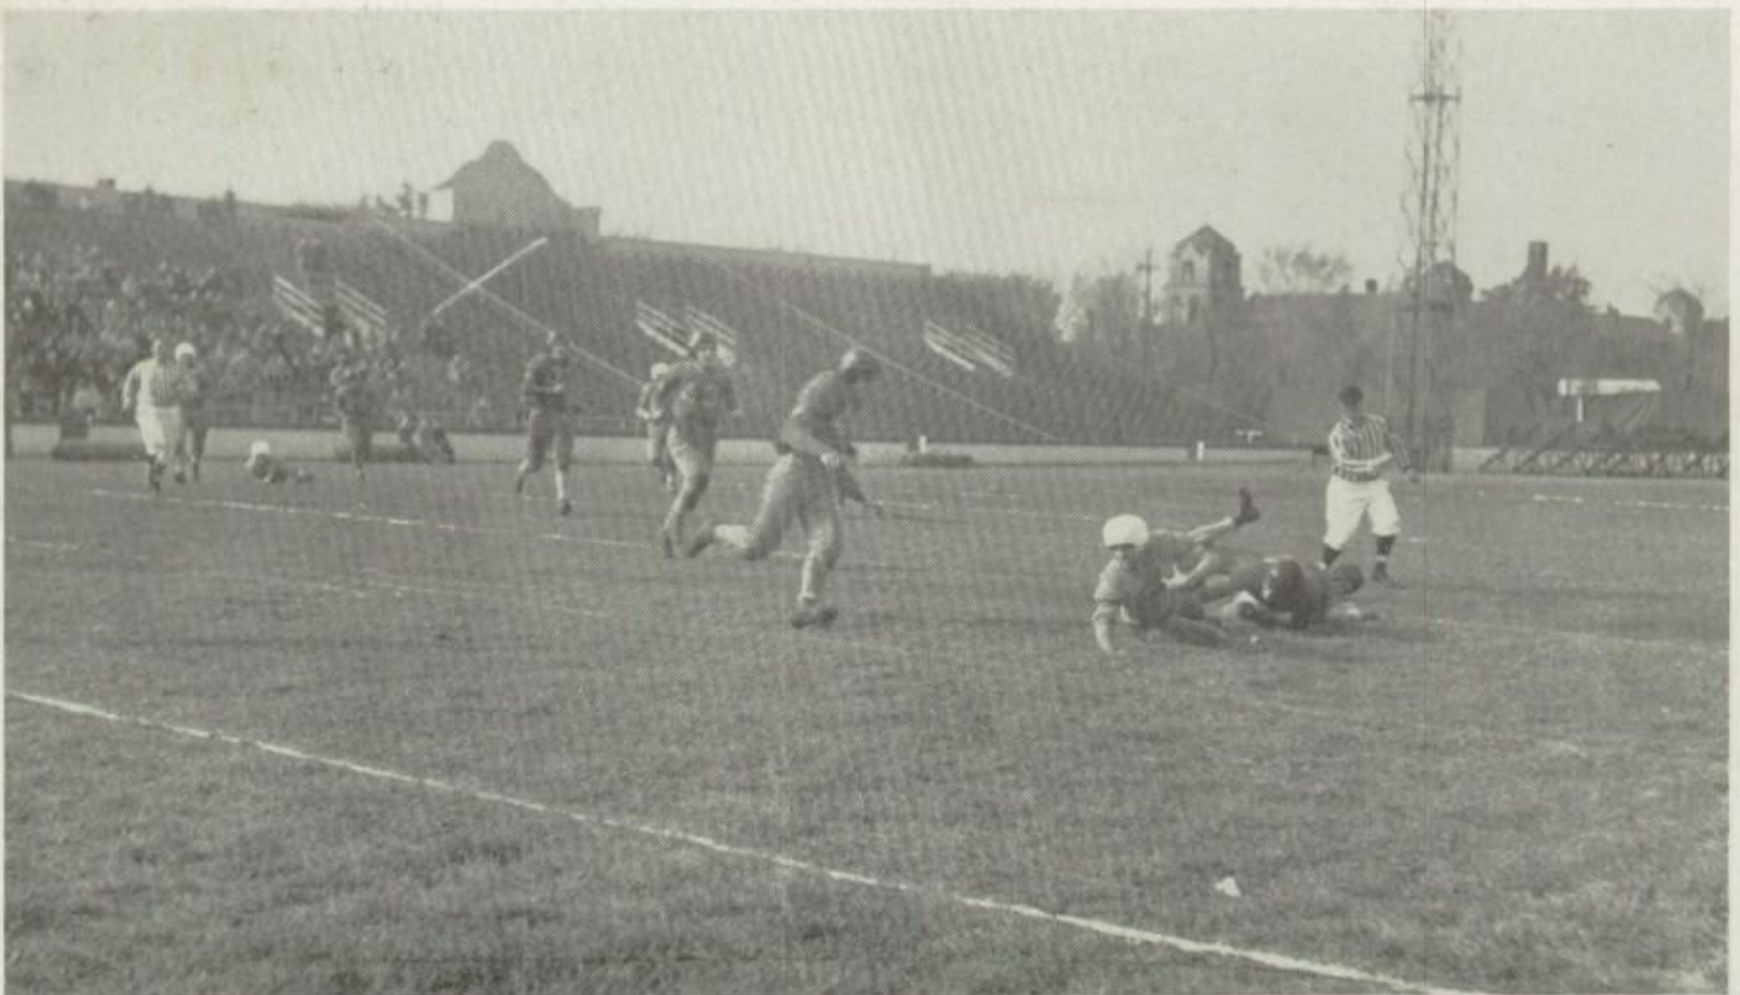

A tense moment on the sidelines.

A fighting De LaSalle team kept pace with the Shamrocks through the first two periods of the Alumni home-coming game, but the Pilots were hopelessly swamped by a second half scoring splurge that netted the Irish a fifty-three to thirteen victory.

The unbeaten Catholic Central eleven journeyed to Rochester, N. Y., to engage Aquinas High in one of the most thrilling games of the season. With only sixty-five seconds remaining in the last period, and having eighty-two yards to advance for a touchdown, the Shamrocks trailed by the score of twenty to nineteen. However, a sudden burst of power covered the distance in three fast plays, and the Irish came home with a twenty-five to twenty victory.

Guarding a record of six victories and no defeats, the Shamrocks journeyed to Ohio to meet an under-rated team from Toledo Catholic Central. The Ohioans utilized a set of speedy, tricky backs in holding the Blue and White to an eighteen to eighteen tie.

A big, fast Grand Rapids Catholic Central squad was unable to fathom the quick-opening, speedy Shamrock scoring plays under the U. of D. Stadium's arc lights. A machine-like line and a powerful backfield were too much for the visitors, and the Shamrocks of 1946 climaxed an undefeated season with an exciting twenty-one to thirteen victory.

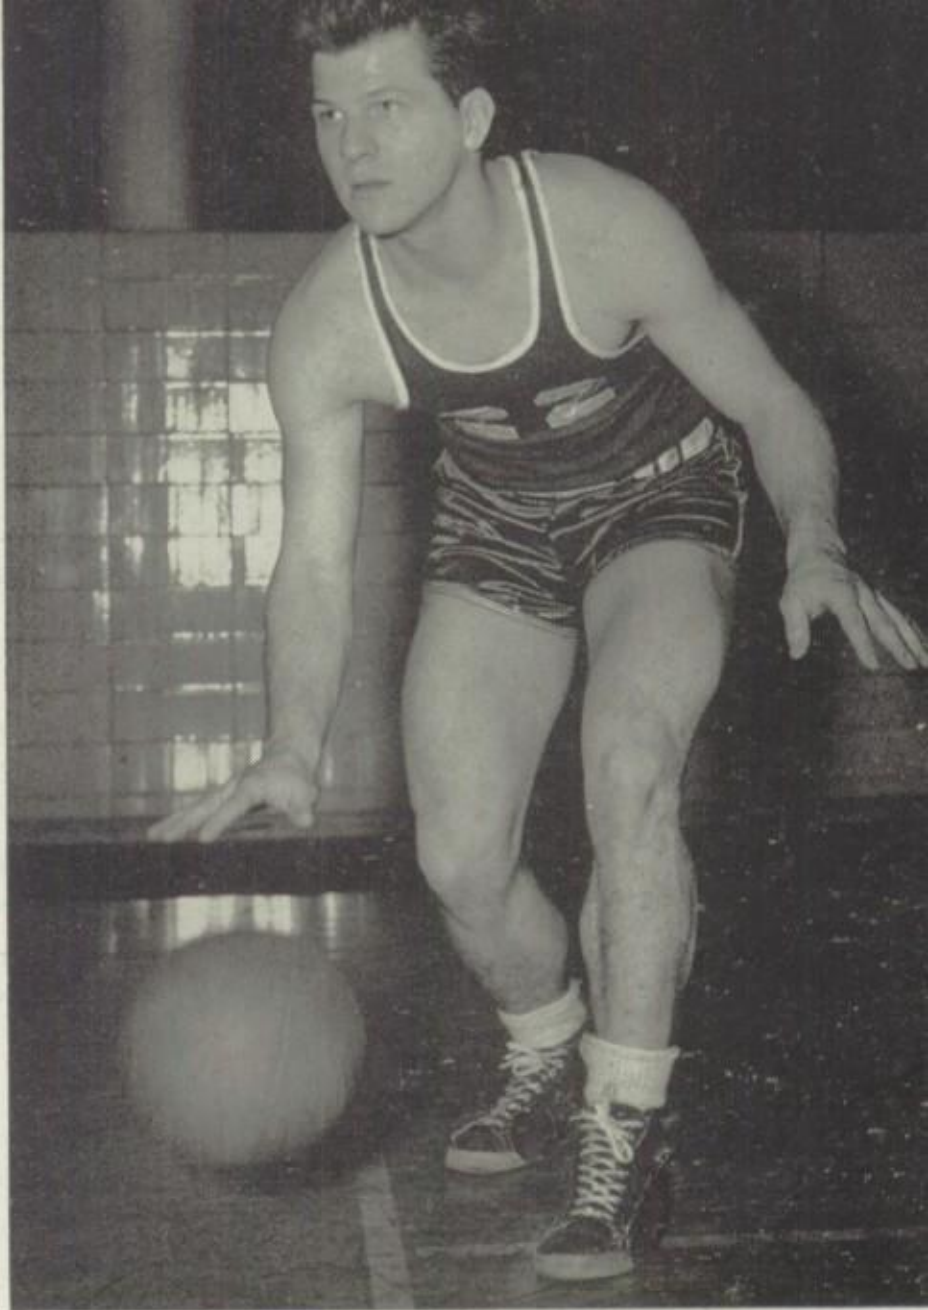

Charlie Wroblewski is downed at mid-field.

Boxing

Catholic Central's star in the boxing heavens has been rising steadily for the past few years, and this year attained a prominence which it had never before enjoyed. The Catholic Central A.C. entered seven boxers in the C.Y.O. Tournament, and of these, three fought well enough to win trophies and became champions in their classes, Jerry Greiner, Frank O'Connor and Bob Galvin. Under the guidance of Father French, assisted by Mr. L. Hayner, the boxers trained patiently day after day in an effort to acquire that finesse that sets the polished boxer apart from the ordinary fighter.

Varsity Baseball

It has become a matter of course, down through the years, for Detroit baseball fans to watch for that springtime herald of victory that goes "Catholic Central wins again." In baseball, as in no other sport, Catholic Central towers above the crowd. This season promises to add further luster to the shining record that Shamrock varsity "nines" compiled in the past.

On the mound Ray Herbert is speedier and more confident than ever. Charlie Wroblewski, Art Ronan, Don Herbert, and others continue to overwhelm and bewilder opponents, as in the past. Considering past accomplishments and future capabilities, how can our boys help but to tack that lucky number "thirteen" onto the string of championships?

The year's box-scores have proven the value of these long hours of practice.

Golf

Golf, the sport of the rolling fairways, is rapidly gaining a prominent place in the sports curricula at Catholic Central that it has never before enjoyed, and that foretells of ever increasing opportunities and rewards for those who will follow in the footsteps of the group of boys who pioneered in bringing this game to the attention of the faculty and student body.

These boys, while pursuing a course that brings enjoyment to themselves and, perhaps, an added share of fame to their school, are meanwhile preparing themselves in no small way for the greater test that lies ahead. Golf, well played, is a game of patience, persistence, and unfailing skill, and what better program of learning could you offer to a boy who soon must make his own way in a world that lately has been frustrated for the lack of many of these qualities?

This year's group of clubbers, under the direction of Fr. Kelley, has brought to the school its first intra-mural golf tournament. The regular squad comprising the golf team promises to give a good account of itself in a statewide amateur tournament.

WALSH INSTITUTE OF ACCOUNTANCY

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY 1922-1947

Twenty-five years ago, Walsh Institute of Accountancy was organized to teach courses in Accountancy and Business Administration. As a specialist in this field for twenty-five years, Walsh has demonstrated through the success of its graduates that specialization pays.

Day and Evening registration for Fall classes begins on June 1, 1947. Fall classes begin September 8, 1947. It is suggested that registrations be made as early as possible to assure reservation of a class place, because of the heavy registration.

54 Years of Dependability

CUSTOMER PARKING LOT ADJOINING

Here's a thought . . .

Gas has brought a tremendous amount of comfort and convenience into modern homes. Each year sees new domestic Gas services developed and existing Gas services brought to a higher degree of excellence.

Gas ranges become more efficient year by year. Automatic Gas water heaters supply ample hot water for the family's use with greater economy and complete dependability. The Gas refrigerator, using an exclusive principle which does away with moving parts, sets standards of refrigerating efficiency.

Gas services recently grown popular are Gas-fired incinerators to end garbage and trash disposal problems, and Gas-fired clothes dryers—a convenience which completes the home laundry.

For home services—Gas is best!
